GOVERNMENT PLANS WAITING POLICY IN LABOR WAR

Administration Will Take No Part in Coal Strike Till Signs of Suffering

By GEO. R. HOLMES,
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 31—While battle lines are being drawn taut today for the greatest labor tie-up in the country's history, official Washington went quietly about its business watching closely, but keeping hands off.

So far as the administration is concerned, officials said, there will be no hurried last minute conferences, no ultimatums and no frantic eleventh hour attempts to prevent the strike going into effect at midnight such as have featured similar situations in other years.

Having failed utterly to persuade the coal operators to meet the miners for the adjustment of a new contract, the government, to all appearances, is willing that the issue shall go to "a showdown" between the half million unionized miners and the operators.

If Public Suffers

Not until the public begins to suffer, either through lack of coal or from profiteering dealers, will the government take action, unless requested to do so by the parties to the controversy, it was stated officially.

The big strike will be ushered in at one minute past midnight with the two warnings from the government—one to the miners that there shall be no violence, the other to the operators that there shall be no profiteering.

"If the price of coal in any locality is boosted, that fact should immediately be reported to Washington," said Secretary of Labor Davis. "There is no justification for any advance in the price of coal and the public should not pay it."

Ordered Not to Strike

TOPEKA, Kas., March 31.—Kansas coal miners were under orders of the Kansas industrial court not to join the nation-wide strike scheduled to begin at midnight tonight. The order further stated that present wages, contracts between operators and miners will remain in effect for thirty days. In the meantime, operators and miners are urged by the court to speed up efforts to reach a satisfactory new agreement.

Ohio Miners Quit Work

BRIDGEPORT, O., March 31.—Fifteen hundred miners in eastern Ohio quit work this morning. By 4 o'clock this afternoon 17,800 men in 194 mines in Harrison, Jefferson and Belmont counties, comprising the field, will be idle.

Andrew R. Watkins of Yorkville, O., member of the executive board of the international association, said today that by tonight every one of the state's 45,000 miners will have quit work.

Kentucky Refuses to Join

CHICAGO, March 31.—Word of the first break in the ranks of the coal miners, scheduled to go on strike at midnight tonight, reached Chicago today. It was the message received by the operators that union miners of western Kentucky have decided not to join the strike, voting to stand by an agreement with the operators that runs through 1922.

Miss Helen Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue and Miss Agnes Brown of 144 North Orange street will sing a duet.

Short addresses will be made by Rev. H. G. Preston, pastor of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church, and Rev. M. Francis, a returned missionary to Japan.

Says Strike Will Be Practically Perfect; 20 States Affected

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—Tonight's nation-wide strike of coal miners will be 100 per cent effective.

This was the declaration of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

"There is nothing to it," the miners' chief said. "The strike machinery is perfect."

This assertion was made following inquiry as to what preparations had been made to reports from subordinate unions as to the effectiveness of the walkout.

"We will receive reports, of course," said Mr. Lewis. "But we don't need them. The strike will be 100 per cent effective. There can be no hitch."

The strike will begin at one minute past midnight.

Approximately 550,000 miners will lay down their tools.

Two hundred thousand non-union miners may join them.

Twenty states are affected.

The country has reserve coal enough to last three months.

The government will keep "hands off" until the public begins to suffer.

SOVIET RUSSIA IS FAILURE, ASSERTS 'MAN WHO KNOWS'

Noted Socialist of Past Days Tells of Conditions; Fights Bolshevism Projects

"Seeing is believing, I know. I have lived in Russia under the czaristic regime. I returned to Russia under the soviet.

"Communism, sovietism and bolshevism are one and the same thing. Bolsheviki means the majority. Soviet means those who decide. The communism of Carl Marx is the rule of the masses. The same application may be applied to socialism."

Alexander Schwartz, noted socialist of by-gone days, told that to the Rotary club here yesterday. In his brusque way he unmasked the socialist party in America, told of the failure of communistic efforts in Russia, and emphasized the need for government based on faith, humanity and mercy.

Wants to Reach Masses

Mr. Schwartz has appeared before audiences in France, Germany, England, Canada, Letvia, Finland, Lithuania, speaking almost every day, and he is the author of the book, "The Voice of Russia." His is a long work against the great propaganda machine set in motion by Lenine and Trotzky, and he is taking but ten days in California to let the masses know the real facts.

"The people I want to reach is the workers, the middle class, the youth, the university and high school students. I want to tell them about communism and the other isms before they become deluded.

"I went to Moscow to represent the working people at the second congress of the Third Internationale. My wife was Jessie M. Molley, well known to your socialists. I was supposed to organize a movement within the American Federation of Labor. And I would have, too, but I saw conditions in Russia as they really

PROFIT-SHARING BY WORKERS BRINGS SUCCESS, CLAIM

C. A. Brownell, Seven Years With Henry Ford, Talks to Pacific Brotherhood

C. A. Brownell, who for seven years was advertising and publicity manager of the Ford Motor company and is affectionately known as "Daddy Brownell" to most of the members of its family, was the speaker last night at the Pacific Avenue Methodist Church Brotherhood.

"While I was connected with the Ford Motor company for a great many years, I don't want to be blamed for all the things which 'Lizzie' has done," remarked Mr. Brownell with a laugh. "I told Mr. Ford, 'You make 'em; I sell 'em.' It is plain that somebody had to sell Fords—they don't sell on shape."

Mr. Brownell, who is vice-president of the Wildman Rubber company, is spending the winter at 615 South Adams street with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Williams.

Plan Brings Success

Profit-sharing and the humaneness of Henry Ford were the two elements which pushed the Ford Motor Car company to the front, according to Mr. Brownell. After relating a number of anecdotes in regard to the operation of the Ford "plan," Mr. Brownell declared that any plant which would adopt similar principles would be bound to succeed. He stated his conviction that it was not Henry Ford who made the success of the organization, but the united efforts of all those on the payroll. Mr. Brownell believes that the time is coming when workers should receive a larger share of the wealth they produce.

"The slogan of the church of today is service," declared James H. Garnsey of 438 Vine street. "The greatest thing that a person can do today for the church is to demonstrate this ideal of service."

Two piano selections were played by D. S. Hollingshead of 228 North Orange street who also accompanied R. D. Crumpton of 610 West Broadway in two baritone solos.

Bungalow Courts to Cost Close to $100,000

On North Central avenue in Casa Verdugo, where building operations are beginning to attract general attention, two bungalow courts of ten units each are in the course of construction. One is for C. A. Nagle of Walnut Park. The exterior finish of these will be of Spanish stucco, with modern interior arrangement, built-in features, and will cost approximately $45,000, inclusive of the ground.

The other court is being erected by Nathan Rigdon, representing an investment of $45,000, exclusive of the ground. Mr. Rigdon is also preparing to build two bungalow homes at a cost of $10,000 each.

A. Houston Jones, electrical engineer, is making plans to erect a brick business block at the corner of Stocker and Central avenue, that will cost approximately $25,000, or over. This will contain stores and apartments. These buildings are all in the section between Stocker and Randolph streets, some of the buildings facing Randolph.

This movement marks the beginning of a new era in the development of one of the oldest sections contiguous to Glendale. With the city permits already over $500,000, this would bring the figures for the month of March very near the $600,000 mark, if the building for Casa Verdugo were included.

MRS. ECKLES IS HOSTESS

Mrs. J. E. Eckles of 330 North Orange street entertained Wednesday with a prettily appointed luncheon in compliment to her mother, Mrs. Laura Dorsey. The table was artistically decorated with purple iris and delicate ferns. Those present were Mrs. H. P. Alston, Mrs. W. H. Spink, Mrs. J. E. Howes, Mrs. Laura Dorsey. Mrs. Eckles was assisted by her daughter, Miss Mabel Eckles. Mrs. Dorsey, who has been spending the winter here, is planning to leave next Tuesday for her home in Arborville, Neb.

Religious Census Is Being Taken Today By Many Workers

This is Visitation day!

All homes in Glendale are being visited between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon by representatives of the religious interests of the community.

The census will require less than two hours, according to J. Shreve Durham of the International Sunday School Association, who is directing the campaign.

About 700 workers reported for duty at the eight headquarters designated and all of them started work at once on a pre-arranged territory.

A blank card is to be filled out by the canvasser for each person in every family upon whom a call is made.

At the close of the campaign, these cards will be turned in at the headquarters and sorted into denominations when they will be given to the pastors of the different churches of Glendale.

Final instructions were given last night in the auditorium of Glendale Union High school, which was packed with representatives of all denominations.

DRAMA SECTION OF CLUB GIVES TRIO OF SHORT PLAYS

Presentations Prove to Be One of Best Features Offered on Convention Program

The presentation of the three one-act plays, "Poor Old Jim," "Mrs. Ritter Appears," and "Glory of the Morning," at Santa Monica, as the closing program at the District Convention of Women's Clubs by the members of the drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale under the direction of Mrs. R. E. Chase, curator of the section and district chairman of drama, proved to be one of the most successful programs of the gathering.

Mrs. Chase, commenting upon the great success with which the plays met, stated that the members of the section had never played to a more appreciative audience.

Although the auditorium where the program was given seated over 1100 people, she states that there were at least 200 or 300 more standing. Beautiful bouquets of flowers were presented the various members of the cast by the various club women and friends. Attend Press Luncheon

The press luncheon given yesterday afternoon at Hotel Miramar at Santa Monica to the press chairmen of the clubs, newspaper writers, presidents and visiting officers, who have been attending the district convention, which concluded last night at that city, proved to be one of the many enjoyable features of the convention.

Those from Glendale who attended this luncheon included Mrs. C. B. Hutchinson, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. A. P. Findlay, Mrs. John Robert White and Mrs. Daniel Campbell. At that time a very clever skit, "The Iink Pot," a travesty on club women, the newspapers and the public, was given by the members of the Echo Park Mothers' club.

Kiwanis Club Is Being Formed Here

At an informal luncheon held in the Citizens building this noon, members of the Pasadena Kiwanis Club discussed the prospects of forming a similar organization here. Several well known business men, officials and professional people were present.

There are now 120 Kiwanians in Pasadena and they hope to have a club in the "fastest growing city in America," it was stated.

PROGRESSIVE CLUB HAS TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION

J. Frank Glendon, district governor from Los Angeles, last night effected the organization of the Glendale Progressive Business club with temporary officers as follows:

G. C. McConnell, president; E. B. Sutton, secretary and treasurer; Max Green, C. B. Guthrie, George A. Whittaker, C. L. Westberg, Dr. James Belyea, A. G. Spohr and Robert H. Cowan, directors, to serve until the charter membership of twenty-five is accepted by the national club with headquarters in San Francisco.

The pipe of peace (and pieces of pipes in some instances) was smoked at the Glen Inn over the banquet board with fifteen enterprising and representative business men from this city in attendance, twenty-five from Los Angeles, eight from San Pedro, six from Long Beach, one from San Bernardino and one from San Francisco.

Objects of Organization

Opening remarks were made by District Governor Glendon, who outlined the objects of the organization, as follows:

Seventh—To encourage the living of the Golden Rule in private, civic, social and business life.

Code of Ethics

Mr. Glendon then read the impressive code of ethics, told the Glendale guests what was necessary for organization and E. B. Sutton, acting as spokesman, replied that he was sure those present would have one of the most Progressive clubs.

TALK BY REV. MOTTERN

A talk by Rev. R. W. Mottern, district director for Near East Relief, and a showing of two reels of the picture "Alice in Hungerland," were the principal features at the assemblies held at the Intermediate school Thursday and proved intensely interesting to the pupils and teachers. Owing to the overcrowded conditions at the school, it is now necessary to convene the eighth and seventh grades in separate assemblies. The same program, however, was presented to each assembly.

At present the Grenfells are leading the "Terrible Tarzans" by the narrow margin of one game.

Barnett of North Central avenue, who was brought home from a Los Angeles hospital three weeks ago after an operation, and was convalescing at his home, has been taken back to the hospital to undergo the operation of having his tonsils removed and also to take a course of treatment for an attack of neuritis.

HIGH SCHOOL BANQUET

The Student Body Cabinet of Glendale Union high school has been invited to a get-together banquet tonight in the dining room of the First Methodist church.

Too Much Red Tape In Municipal Affairs City Councilmen Say

"Everlasting red tape"—that's what Councilman C. E. Kimlin grievously complained against last night when the subject of Los Feliz road improvements came back like the cat.

"I want to see those people get what they want," he said.

"So do I," echoed Dwight W. Stephenson. And Mayor Robinson and Messrs. Davis and Lapham agreed.

"We will include this petition for ornamental street lights on Los Feliz road between Glendale avenue and the Southern Pacific tracks in the general plan for widening and improving," Councilman Davis moved.

"And will Mr. Diederich and Mr. Hill call a meeting for this Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the old Tropico city hall assembly room and talk over the kind of paving, type of light standard and other questions with the people down there so that the proceedings may not be further delayed?" added Councilman Kimlin.

The meeting will be arranged for.

CITY'S POLICEMEN GET INSTRUCTIONS

Chief John D. Fraser Gives Out Bulletin in Which Men Are Told Their Duties

Redistricting of the city to perfect a police patrol system is now being worked out by Chief John D. Fraser. This is necessary so that every man may know the beats and especially the one assigned to him. The bulletin regarding this matter, which was issued this morning, dwells on the duties of each beat, because of the different conditions.

It also points out that in the event of trouble, the patrolman will immediately notify headquarters in order that a relief man may be sent out on the motorcycle. If headquarters receives the call, the relief man will be dispatched and by means of a police whistle notify the patrolman on the beat, thus assuring two men on every call.

In case of fire the patrolman will first phone the fire station and then notify police headquarters so that two officers will be on duty to protect property and control the crowds.

In Congested Districts

The bulletin further directs them to spend the better part of their time in the congested districts and occasionally patrol the side streets. They must watch those business houses, particularly, which are known to keep cash over night.

Following is a brief description of the beats:

1. Park avenue and Palmer streets, south to the city limits.
2. West Broadway, south to Park; Brand west to the city limits.
3. East Broadway, south to Park and Palmer avenues; Brand east to city line.
4. Brand and Broadway, north and west to the city limits.
5. Brand and Broadway, north and east to the city limits.

The captain on duty will act as "roundsman" to see that each man is on his post and at the same time patrol the city in a motor car.

BUSINESS SECTION PARKING HOURS ARE AGAIN UP

Cars Kept in Front of Stores All Day Bring Protests to City Councilmen

Parking for more than two hours between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. on Brand boulevard between Colorado and California streets, and on Broadway between Everett street and Central avenue, would be prohibited if the ordinance presented the city council last night becomes a law.

Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson formally offered it, but it is an answer to the request of merchants who wish to step all day parking in front of their places of business.

It is said that people from the Green Verdugo Hills, and some of Glendale's own good residents, motor down to Brand or Broadway and leave their machines while they take the Pacific Electric into more congested Los Angeles. Some relief from this practice is sought.

Councilman Lapham Presides

Councilman A. H. Lapham presided for the first time in the absence of Mayor Spencer Robinson during the early hours of last night's session. He made quite an effective gavel wielder, although at two different times personalities in civic matters got to a boiling point. Attorney Sherer, appearing for Peter Zanich, sewer contractor, aroused the ire of Councilman Sam Davis who recalled a deal of yesteryear and told the attorney what he thought, or part of his thoughts.

During the hearing on a petition for a first-class residential district in the vicinity of West Milford street, West Lexington Drive and Pacific avenue, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Swartsfager both denied they had misrepresented matters to their neighbors in obtaining a permit to build a duplex house in that vicinity. Then it seemed as though the whole neighborhood started talking, and they kept on talking until Councilmen Lapham and Stephenson implored that they go home and let the city attorney decide the legal phases of the question.

Protests Over Delay

Delay, delay, delay and a few more delays were recounted by Councilman Stephenson in presenting a motion that the city council have recorded its contracts with Hanna & Newport, relative to the purchase of the Newport Water company in Verdugo Woodlands. On roll call, Davis and Robinson voted against the motion while Stephenson and Lapham voted for it. Councilman Kimlin refused to vote until next week's meeting.

Among the miscellaneous matters coming before the council was the dinner promised the firemen for their work on the hook and ladder motor truck. City Manager Reeves was instructed to set a date and arrange the details. Mayor Robinson stated his rheumatism would not interfere with his enjoying the meal.

W. M. KEPKE BUYS LOT

Mrs. Stella Goodman reports the sale of a lot on North Brand boulevard for $2800 cash to W. M. Kepke of 648 North Central avenue. Mr. Kepke built his present home about a year ago but is contemplating disposing of it and plans to build on the new lot in the near future.

Unusual Feature Film on Glendale's Screen

Charles Urban's notable feature, "The Four Seasons," comes to the Glendale Theatre today.

Mr. Urban is the pioneer educational film producer of the world.

"The Four Seasons" is one of the most unusual features ever made.

The theme was conceived by Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of the New York Zoological Society, and directed throughout by him. Indeed many of the more difficult scenes were personally photographed by him with cameras of special mechanism. The four reels assembled are from an accumulated file of more than 40,000 feet of film.

"The Four Seasons," as the title indicates, treat of Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter, with a reel devoted to each. The main idea back of the entire subject is to clearly portray in beautiful and unusual scenes the lessons of the weather, incidentally demonstrating the possibilities of anyone definitely forecasting many weather conditions.

Animals play an important part in the picture, illustrating the season's ways and moods by their habits and Nature's treatment of them. The whole is linked together by a smooth and wonderful story.

Three comedies and Pathe News complete the program.

FRANK BOOTH PROTESTS

Editor The Evening News: Not because my interests are on East Broadway, but because I believe East Broadway the logical place for the postoffice site. It is on the car here where registered mail would be less likely to be held up in transferring mail to and fro. Also, East Broadway is the center of all activities, high school, hotel, sanitarium, city hall, churches, library, banks, etc. I hope Washington authorities will reconsider and place the postoffice where it will do the most good for the most people. Yours truly,

FRANK BOOTH.

THIS GHOST WIELDS AN AXE

EDMONTON, Alta., March 31.—A truculent ghost that wields an axe when in a peevish mood was reported today from Forestburg, a nearby coal field town.

According to local belief, the spook is the ghost of a former mine owner named Turner. After her husband's death, Mrs. Turner married again, becoming Mrs. Edall, and this action on her part put the ghost in a particularly bad humor. Mrs. Edall said that the spirit suddenly appeared in her home with an axe in its hands and chased her all over the house before ghostly exhaustion put an end to the pursuit.

On another occasion, the spook is said to have appeared to a gang of miners. All the men except one fled. This bold spirit threw an axe at the ghost which reluctantly drew off, apparently debating in its mind whether it would be wise to stay and give battle.

The United States army has had only five full generals since the title was created for George Washington in 1799.

Secretary California Real Estate Association

The board of directors of the California Real Estate Association, at their quarterly regional conference in Los Angeles, went on record unanimously against the $500,000,000 water and power act. Thirty-two cities were represented at the conference by board directors.

A resolution was adopted unanimously favoring the initiative amendment to fix the required number of signatures to an initiative petition at 15 per cent of the vote. This endorsement was given following an address by E. P. Clark, president of the People's Anti-Single Tax League.

The transportation committee of the board of directors was given full power to act for the board in the matter of devising ways and means for co-operating with street, interurban and steam lines in improving the transportation situation as it affects the development of real estate.

Thirty-six directors were present at the conference, which was called to order by State President C. C. C. Tatum. Regional Director O. A. Vickrey presided over the regional meeting. The discussion was open.

Appointment of Fred E. Reed of Oakland, former state president, to head the transportation committee was announced by President Tatum, Santa Ana, upon motion of John G. Munholland, seconded by J. H. Dorn of Pasadena, was unanimously awarded the next state convention. Dates for the same will probably be in November or December.

Progress on drafting standard forms for all real estate offices was reported by Vice-President Frazier O. Reed and Director C. A. Ricks.

Plan for Caravan.

Plans for the realtors' End of the Trail Caravan to San Francisco May 29-30, were presented by Col. William May Garland, chairman; Colbert Caldwell, president, and Geo. C. Boardman, chairman for San Francisco Real Estate Board; National Vice-President Albert E. Kern; Vice-Chairman Hervey M. Porter and Herman Janss. More than 500 cars will be needed for this caravan, Col. Garland said. Hayden F. Jones, central California Chairman, and Thos. W. McManus, Bakersfield, told of plans for the San Joaquin Valley welcome to the caravan. At San Jose, Frazier O. Reed said the San Jose realtors would welcome the caravan. W. Ross Campbell, general state chairman, presided at the luncheon.

Vice-President C. H. Antrim of Fresno outlined plans for the state realty association investigating the highway situation, particularly with a view to finding some measure of relief against the destruction of the pavement by competing traffic without payment of reasonable upkeep charges.

Steady growth of the association was reported by Henry P. Barbour, membership chairman for the state. The association now has more than 1500 active and associate members, he said.

There are realty boards in seventy-one cities and towns of California, and Chairman Barbour said: "The California Real Estate association is destined to be one of the most useful constructive agencies in state development in the United States. Its plans for meeting the needs of the fastest growing state in the union include teaming with government and local agencies in solving the problems of housing, irrigation, reclamation, taxation and transportation. I am calling on every local board to double its own membership, and its state board membership, in order to make it possible for our state problems affecting realty to be solved with broad vision and united support from every section."

Seeks Amendments.

The association's plans for calling on the legislature for amendments to the California real estate license act were outlined by Chairman William H. Akin of the state legislative committee. Stronger protection of the public against investments in shady land deals, fake promoters who evade the corporation commissioner and "just get by" other laws, and a 100 per cent air-tight land colonization law to stop the swindling schemes of realty agents from without the state was demanded by realtors throughout the state, Chairman Akin said.

The established realty dealers who have built up the profession of real estate also deserve to be protected by law, as are the doctors, lawyers and other professions, in receiving compensation for services justly rendered.

The legislature probably will be called on, it was stated at the conference, to enact additional provisions to the realty act. These would include making a practical knowledge of real estate and experience in the business requirements of those applying for a broker's license, with the state commissioner given greater power of discretion in granting licenses to sell California's fundamental asset.

One of the most interesting addresses of the conference was by W. I. Hollingsworth, the California Real Estate Association chairman on the Colorado river project. Hollingsworth attended the Phoenix conference recently, where he presented the constructive suggestions of the California Real Estate association, and the National Association of Real Estate Boards on the impounding of the Colorado's waters for flood protection, irrigation and power.

Opposed to Measure.

Hollingsworth declared that the so-called "California Water and Power act" to be voted on at the November election, was against the best interests of California's 1,300,000 property owners. "This act provides," Chairman Hollingsworth said, "for mortgaging the state of California for $500,000,000, pledging the full faith and credit of all property and every taxable thing for repayment. Based on our present assessed valuation this means a mortgage on all your taxable property of one-eighth of its value.

"The act gives power to confiscate and take immediate possession of any property the board desires or deems necessary. All rates can be made at the whim of the board of five commissioners appointed by the governor, which permits favoring one locality over another. Rates in your locality can be increased to make up losses in other communities. All or any part of the $500,000,000 can be spent outside of California."

Resolutions adopted by the conference called on local realty boards to propose and debate amendments to the realty license act, urged bankers and property owners to affiliate with the realty board, and paid high tribute to the Long Beach Realty Board, its officers, Henry P. Barbour and John G. Munholland, and also a resolution of tribute to the late Otto F. Brant of the Title Insurance & Trust Company.

The Southern California Realtors Picnic will be at Long Beach May 13, the San Joaquin valley picnic at Mooney's Grove near Tulare on May 6, and the Santa Clara Valley picnic near San Jose in June.

The Chadni Chowk, or "Silver Street," is the main bazaar of Delhi, and one of the richest streets in the world. Many of its shops are occupied by jewelers whose hoards of precious stones represent fabulous sums.

Following a conference between Chief J. D. Fraser and Mr. Gelmor, eight or twelve members of the police force are being measured today or tomorrow for their new uniforms which will be somewhat better and slightly cheaper than those worn by the patrolmen of Los Angeles.

"The cloth costs 87 cents a yard more than that used in Los Angeles and the cost of the uniform is 63 cents less, or exactly $38," remarked Mr. Gelmor. "Of course, the workmanship will be of the very best."

Members of the department are purchasing civilian suits from Mr. Gelmor also. However, he has made it clear that he is able to fill all orders placed now before Easter.

TRAIN WRECK; ONE HURT

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 31.—Five cars of the Dominion Express on the Pennsylvania road slid down a twenty-foot embankment into the old Pennsylvania canal at Halifax. The train was bound from Buffalo to Washington. The wreck was caused by a broken rail.

There were ninety passengers on the train and many of them were asleep in their berths and did not know what had happened, some not being awakened. Only one passenger, T. Spencer of Atlantic City, was injured.

"My wife died from a hunger strike. As she was dying, she said to me: 'I have been working for twenty years in the wrong direction. If I cannot have liberty under a workingmen's government, there is no need for the fight.'

Makes Moonshine as Dinner Is Prepared

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. — The latest wrinkle in moonshining apparatus just brought to light by the city police is a combination hot plate and moonshine still. One was confiscated when officers swooped down upon the abode of John Ferrise, in the Northview section of the city. He was using it, the officers say, and was cooking a meal on the thing while making moonshine whisky at the same time at the rate of a gallon an hour. The alleged owner and operator was arrested and held for trial.

Watchful Waiting Is Policy Toward Mexico

WASHINGTON — The United States government is encouraged over the Mexican situation. There have been no important disturbances in that republic since Obregon became president. General Obregon seems to be ruling with a firm and steady hand. His attitude towards the United States has been courteous and entirely satisfactory to the state department. President Obregon is gradually getting his point of view across with the American government, and it is said that he has enlisted the sympathy of President Harding, to whom he writes direct.

Obregon insists that Mexico belongs to Mexicans, and while he wants Americans to help develop the country, and to make their investments in Mexico, he says that in doing to that they must understand that they are to subscribe to and conform to the Mexican law, and cease their resistance of those laws as well as their attempts to overthrow the Mexican government, or to engage it in endless controversies with the Mexican government. Our own government is inclined to take President Obregon at his word when he says that Mexico will rigidly observe all its proper relations and understandings with the United States, and protect citizens of this country, who behave themselves when they are in Mexico.

Upon these promises and conditions President Obregon has asked President Harding to pave the way for recognition of Mexico. It is said that official government records would fail to disclose a parallel to the unique letter writing episode that has been furnished by the presidents of the United States and Mexico. It began a year ago, and information that has come from the White House indicates that Obregon has won a fine place in the estimation of President Harding. The present status of our affairs with Mexico seems to resolve around the question as to whether, in view of repeated former experiences, Mexico should have recognition without furnishing a positive guarantee for the protection of American rights.

Obregon says that the United States should take it for granted that such will be the case. But while the United States is apparently willing to trust Obregon, the period of "watchful waiting" is again on, and the "waiting" is occasioned by the fact that our observers are ready to go ahead just as soon as they are satisfied that the Mexican president can command sufficient support in his own congress to drive through his own policy. That policy is considered satisfactory toward the United States

WARFARE IS THREATENED

WASHINGTON, March 31. — The Far East (Chita) republic has officially notified Japan that it no longer considers Vladivostok as "neutral territory" and will proceed to send its armed forces against the Japanese troops that are holding that city, according to an announcement made here by representatives of the Chita government. A copy of the Far East note to the Japanese government was transmitted to the state department.

SEWER PROBLEMS OF LOS ANGELES HIT THROUGH COURT

Glendale Should Work Out Own Solution, Is Belief of City Manager

Annexationists, who believe the local sewer problem would be solved by joining the city of Los Angeles, may be interested in the fact that Los Angeles has a very perplexing sewer problem of its own, according to City Manager W. H. Reeves.

"The sewer situation in Los Angeles Tuesday was brought to an acute point by the decision of Superior Judge Perry Wood," asserted Mr. Reeves. "He enjoined the city from turning into Ballona Creek the overflow of raw sewage which the outgrown and overloaded outfall sewer can care for no longer.

"Plans are now being made in Los Angeles for the construction of another outfall sewer. This will cost in the neighborhood of $12,890,000, and, of course, the taxpayers will be obliged to foot the bill. It is proposed to put the bonds to a vote at the August primary.

"It seems to be considerable of a question as to whether these bonds will carry, on account of the opposition both inside and outside of Los Angeles. Opponents of the plan declare that the present outfall sewer system is making cesspools of the bathing beaches and every year becoming worse. The practice has roused the severe condemnation of the California State Board of Health.

Proper Solution

"The proper solution to the problem, according to experts, lies in the installation of the activated sludge treatment of sewage which is being agitated for Glendale. This purifies the liquid content and makes it available for irrigation purposes and turns the solids into commercial fertilizer.

"This system is being used very satisfactorily at Glasgow, Scotland, and Bradford, England; Morley, England, makes about $1400 a week from his source. A large profit is made also from the sale of fertilizer at Huddersfield, England.

"Chicago has ordered four immense activated sludge plants built despite the fact that it has spent about $20,000,000 already upon a sewage canal. Milwaukee is adopting this system, also, and Houston, Texas, has a plant in operation at the present time.

"The Los Angeles County Farm Bureau is very much opposed to the wastefulness of the outfall sewer system. Even the Chinese know better than to dump good fertilizer into the ocean. This organization characterizes the system as 'archaic and unsanitary.' It recommends the construction in various parts of the city of activated sludge plants. After a thorough investigation of the subject, a committee appointed by this body came to the conclusion that this is the only solution of the problem.

Menace to Health

"Those who are familiar with the situation in Los Angeles, agree that it is a menace to public health and a check on the city's growth. Mr. Treat, president of the Board of Public Works, believes every resident of the City of Los Angeles should be made acquainted with the problem so that it can be given immediate attention. I would go one step further than that and say that every citizen of Los Angeles County should be made familiar with it in order that Glendale and other suburban communities may benefit by the experience.

"As far as I can see, if we annexed to Los Angeles, local taxpayers would either have the privilege of helping pay for another outfall sewer or for the construction of activated sludge plants. If the people here insist on the first system, let's build a sewer line of our own to the Pacific. I don't believe that it would cost Glendale a great deal more money than joining Los Angeles on the proposition.

"However, the trend of scientific opinion seems to favor the second system. It would certainly be more economical to build our own sludge plant here than to rely on those built by Los Angeles. If we were permitted to connect with the Los Angeles sewer system we could scarcely expect to derive any revenue from the sale of fertilizer, which may be developed into quite an industry under proper management.

Ex-Governor Burke Fights to Save Honor

WASHINGTON—Former Governor John Burke of North Dakota was treasurer of the United States under the Woodrow Wilson regime. You will find his name on all the paper money issued during that period. A year ago Mr. Burke joined a big brokerage house operating in several cities, and gave it his name. A few weeks ago the firm suspended, and the financial world sympathetically chuckled because "another farm man had been taken in by Wall Street."

But Burke is showing the world that the broad-fisted sons of The Dakotas do not die off so easily; and instead of "crying over spilt milk" John Burke is capitalizing his lifelong reputation for honesty by meeting with his numerous creditors, who are signing up an extension of time on their claims for three years under the promise that Burke will resume business.

New York Girls Find They Must Pay $500 Yearly to Be Well Dressed, So They Assert

Madelyn Lueck & Marion Blust choosing durable garments.

Two New York working girls choosing garments they would include if limited to $90 a year for a wardrobe.

By International News Service

NEW YORK—New York business girls must spend $500 per year for clothes if they expect to look trim and keep up appearances.

Quite different from conditions in Emporia, Kansas, where merchants are testifying before the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations that $90 a year will keep a girl neatly dressed.

Ninety dollars a year! Gotham's business damsels scoffed, and girls of the New York League for Girls made a comparion with their own needs. And it costs them $500 per year to dress trimly, and the rest of the country may as well know it. And Emporia, Kansas, is a long way from here.

Twelve representative young women—clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, milliners—are authority for the above estimate. A few placed their estimate a little higher, a few said less—but this is the average. If they don't buy a Spring and Fall suit each year, then they buy more dresses, and the budget evens up.

Requires Good Judgment.

They also made it plain that it requires good judgment to be well dressed on that amount, and a girl must know the values in this shop and that and know style.

Madelyn Lueck, No. 512 Seneca avenue, Brooklyn, explained how she managed to get through on $500 a year:

"I get my dinner frocks so that I can wear them to business when they get old. I buy a Winter coat each year, and the one from last year serves as second best.

"I'd like to see any girl dress on $90 a year! Employers don't like a dowdy around. A girl who looks like a freak has a fine chance in New York!"

HERE IS WHAT GIRLS SAY IT COSTS TO DRESS

One Spring Suit	$27
One Winter Suit	50
Three dressy dresses at $25 each	75
One Winter Coat	50
One Spring Coat	25
Six Waists at $5 each	30
Two dozen stockings (sport and silk)	42
Seven pairs of shoes at $5 each	35
Two heavy dresses at $20	40
One sport skirt	8
Three Summer dresses at $12 each	36
Underwear	40
Four hats at $5 each	20
Novelties and incidentals (sweaters, gloves, purses, etc.)	25
Total	$503

Wooden Shoes There?

The merchants of Emporia had down on the list: Cotton stockings at 23 cents a pair; one wool dress at $13.90 for the year; one cotton dress at $3.98; one coat, $22.50 (to wear three years); one coat suit, $14.75 (to wear three seasons); one pair of shoes, $3.98; one pair of oxfords, $2.98, and other things in line.

"Say, what do they think we are?" Marion Blust, bookkeeper, wanted to know. "Do the girls dance in wooden shoes out there, or don't they dance or go any place at all? I pay my board at home and the rest of my money goes to clothes, and I am glad of it."

It was brought out in the inquiry that only two girls in twelve do any sewing and that the majority prefer to buy all their clothes ready-made. They said that they got better styles for the same money.

"But you have to know where to buy," Miss Lueck emphasized.

She was wearing a $25 silk and lace party frock that looked twice its price, and questions elicited the information from others that some buy their stockings at bargains, and their dresses after sampling a dozen shops.

Girls Live at Home.

The great majority of New York's office girls live at home, according to the League of Girls' Clubs, and that makes it possible for most of them to dress up to standard. The younger girls give their mothers all they earn, and the mothers look after their dress; but mothers of young girls are dependably indulgent.

The older girls contribute on an average of $8 a week for their board, and the rest is theirs. Most of them confessed that they also saved in the waning weeks of a season for the beginning of the next season, and that savings usually were drawn upon in this manner.

Million and Half of Homes Still Required

WASHINGTON — Senator Calder, chairman of the United States senate committee on reconstruction; Secretary Hoover and others, who have studied the housing situation, have reiterated their estimates that 1,500,000 homes are needed to meet the housing shortage.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is working for a federal conference on home financing.

"We have mobilized the commercial capital of the country through the federal reserve banks," he says, "We have mobilized the farm mortgage capital through the farm loan bureau. We are considering mobilizing production capital for the farmers through another organization. The country badly needs a mobilization of the home building and loan associations, insurance companies and savings banks. We have a sound foundation upon which to build some sort of structure that would cheapen home building capital, give it more mobility to all regions and afford a greater security. A conference to consider this problem would be of great value."

HEALTHY GROWTH OF GLENDALE SHOWN BY STATISTICS

Installations of Service Prove Population in Past Month Is Increased by 325

Over 325 persons have been added to the population of Glendale during the past month, according to the estimate of local statisticians, based on the fact that the public service department during this period has installed over 100 water meters and over 160 light meters.

Census figures show that about one water meter exists for every three and one-fourth persons. This basis has been found reliable from time to time, and brings the population of Glendale at the present time to approximately 25,000.

The community continues its healthy growth, according to executives of the public service department. Although not as many meters are being installed this month as during February, which was a record month, as many applications are being filed as could be expected.

Baby Daughter Wins Rich Pearl Necklace

OAKLAND.—Little Miss Blum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Blum, was born not with a gold spoon in her mouth, but with a pearl necklace about her neck. Through her arrival here at a hospital, the stork decided the ownership of the necklace. Four years ago Mrs. Rosa Blum, wealthy mother of J. B. Blum, died. She left a curious will, one of the provisions of which was that her $100,000 pearl necklace should go to the first daughter of her son, James B. Blum, provided he married, and to charity if he did not marry or did not have a daughter.

Blum married and a year ago the stork arrived, but brought a boy! Then it was that the court decreed that Mrs. Blum should once a year, under guard, wear the pearls which had been lying idle in a safety deposit box, in order that they might not "die" from want of contact with beautiful shoulders.

Under the terms of the court order she will wear them once a year until little Miss Blum is big enough to wear them herself.

Russia Battle Fleets Will Be Strengthened

WASHINGTON.—The battle fleets of Soviet Russia are to be strengthened immediately. Leon Trotzky, chief of the soviet war council, has just issued orders for the rehabilitation of the Russian navy, according to diplomatic reports received at the State Department from Moscow.

Warships which for months have lain rotting at their piers, are to be reconditioned and put into commission. Systematic effort is to be made to re-enlist the officers and men of the old czarist navy, many of whom are now in foreign lands.

The real and immediate purpose of Trotzky's determination to rehabilitate the navy is not entirely clear. Apparently it is part of his general plan for strengthening Soviet Russia's power of offense and defense outlined in his recent addresses to the Red army. His announcement on the necessity for an efficient marine asserts that Soviet Russia must have powerful fleets for offensive purposes.

"These fleets, however, must be ready for defensive work, in case capitalism and the navies of capitalism make it necessary," he says.

Harding Would Make 'Ideal Julius Caesar'

WASHINGTON—President Harding would make an ideal Julius Caesar, if he entered the movies, according to the expert opinions of the Misses Dorothy and Lillian Gish, screen stars, expressed to the International News Service, after being entertained at the White House.

The president has the identical aquiline features, the proper poise, and would look "idealistically Roman" in a toga in Miss Lillian's opinion. That battered old Roman Rubicon-Crosser was the prototype of President Harding, Lillian declared and if D. W. Griffith contemplates producing a film play based on Caesar's story he would have to search the world for President Harding's "double."

"The president is strikingly handsome and he reminds me so much of a Roman senator," Lillian said. Dorothy chimed in with:

"He would go wonderfully on the screen as Julius. I don't think there is a truer Caesar type in the world than President Harding."

Watching people at the White House is instructive, Lillian said.

COMPLETE TEAM TO BE ENTERED IN TRACK MEET

High School to Send Out Big Squad of Athletes First Time in Five Years

By HOWARD M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News

For the first time within the past five years, Glendale High school will be represented with a complete team at the annual Central League track and and field meet on Saturday at Occidental field.

Heretofore the school has had but one coach of athletics and it was always impossible for him to devote sufficient time to the track candidates in order to put out a winning aggregation for the Red and Black. Last year and for everal years previous Glendale was represented by two or three stars of known ability, and although they made good showings of themselves, it was impossible for them to run away with first honors in any of the meets.

This year Coach Hayhurst has been rtlieved of the duties of coaching the baseball nine, which has been turned over to Howard Butterfield, and is spending several hours each afternoon showing the would-be Paddocks, Kirkseys and Merchants how it should be done. Although he doesn't expect to run away with the laurels on Saturday, Hayhurst has developed a team that will make a creditable showing for the present and a bid for championship honors next year. Twenty points in Saturday's meet will more than satisfy him.

These Are Entered

Following is a list of the Red and Black athletes entered in the various events Saturday:

One hundred yard dash—McKee and Haygood.

Two hundred twenty yard dash—McKee.

Four hundred forty yard dash—Sullivan and Crum.

Mile run—Bruck, Stofft and Hand.

Half-mile run—Bruck, Stofft and Hand.

Low Hurdles—Kelsey and Pomeroy.

High Hurdles—Pomeroy and Dutcher.

Pole Vault—Boehn, Lercher and Taylor.

High Jump—Paul, Clouse and Linlie.

Broad Jump—Butts, Dow and Haygood.

Shot—Dutcher and Clouse.

Discus—Payne, Clouse and Taylor.

Relay—Sullivan, McKee, Haygood, Kelsey, Crum and Bruck.

In Lightweight Division

In the lightweight division, which includes all athletes weighing under 125 pounds, Glendale is conceded to have at least an even chance of winning first place. Winning Central League championships seems to be fast becoming a habit with this year's local Midgets, they having already reached the semi-final playoff for the Southern California title in football and basketball.

Following is a list of the lightweight candidates who have been entered in Saturday's events:

Fifty yard dash—Roberts, Horii, Yard and Lovell.

One hundred yard dash—Roberts, Horii, Yard and Lovell.

One Hundred Twenty Yard Hurdles—Horii and Muff.

Broad Jump—Dow, Horii and Yard.

Shot—Roberts, Horii and Yard.

High Jump—Roberts and Lovell.

Pole Vault—Roberts, Stanford and Yard.

Relay—Roberts, Dow, Lovell, Cressen, Horii and Yard.

Well! Well! New York Now Getting Cleaner

NEW YORK.—Officially at least, New York is getting cleaner every day. First Mayor John F. Hylan, exponent of a political system which, according to Tammany's opponents, needs a vacuum cleaner worse than any other of the country's political rings, announces that he will give a hearing for those who protest against the MacMonnies statue of "Civic Virtue" considered as too disparaging of women to adorn the city hall esplanade.

Then, it is suddenly discovered that the mayor has a shower bath in the city hall cellar.

The commissioner of accounts, Hirshfield, hearing about the mayor's bath, announces that he would like one for himself. The mayor's bath is to make it possible for him to get into the official dress clothes properly after a hard day's work, and before a hard night's banqueting.

Coincident with the discovery of the bath came the revelation of a secret flight of stairs from the mayor's office to the cellar. Callers can now escape without question by reporters or the mayor can bathe whenever the spirit moves him. The MacMonnies statue is protested because it represents civic virtue as a man with his foot on a woman's neck.

WORD TO DECIDE FORTUNE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 31.—On the word of Pilot Robert Moore of the ill-fated seaplane "Miss Miami" will depend the disposition of a vast fortune, it was stated today. It is the estate of August J. Bulte, vice president of the Larabee Milling corporation, who, with his young wife, were among the five persons who lost their lives in the wreckage of the plane off Miami, Fla. If Bulte died first, his wife's heirs will obtain her portion of the estate. If Mrs. Bulte was first to die, the estate will pass to his heirs.

P. E. ASSERTS BUS LINE WILL TAKE TRAFFIC 'CREAM'

Railway Officials Protest Plan of Glendale; States Its Service 'Reasonable'

"No complaint has been made to the Railroad Commission of California that the service of the Pacific Electric Railway company serving the Glendale territory is not reasonable and adequate."

So states Frank Karr, chief counsel and second vice-president of the Pacific Electric, in a formal document recently filed with the Board of Public Utilities of the City of Los Angeles to show cause why Glendale should not be permitted to traverse the streets of Los Angeles with a bus line. The views expressed in this brief are endorsed by D. W. Pontius, first vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Electric.

"No contention has been made that the Glendale line in passenger-carrying ability has reached the point of traffic saturation. It is well-known that the service on the Glendale line could be more than doubled were such increase necessary to reasonably or conveniently handle the passenger traffic.

Objection to Rates

"It is true that some objection is being made to the new scale of rates established for the one-way and round-trip fares on the Glendale line. The California Railroad commission prescribed the same scale of rates for all the various classifications of interurban rates to and from Glendale at the identical mileage rate prescribed for every other interurban passenger line of the Pacific Electric Railway company entering and leaving Los Angeles.

"It is our view that the rates so established are just and reasonable but, if they are not, the California Railroad commission will, upon presentation of the evidence, readjust such rates so that they will, in fact, be just and reasonable.

"No public utility service can be conducted in a satisfactory manner either to the owner of the property or the patrons of the utility unless the cost of the service is realized from the patrons.

Called Economic Waste

"It has in the last few years been rather clearly demonstrated that duplication of public utility investment where traffic is limited is an economic waste and ultimately results in detriment to the consumers. The evils resulting from unrestricted direct competitive bus service paralleling the lines of a local or interurban railway line have been conclusively determined in several cities in the United States during the past year, the most graphic of which, perhaps, is the Des Moines situation where the receiver of the railroad under the direction of the court actually withdrew all street car service from the streets until the deadly and destructive bus competition was eliminated. The situation was such that neither line could pay the cost of service.

"The result of direct competition is that the business will be insufficient to properly maintain both with a consequence of either failure and destruction of the property already dedicated to public use or a very substantial deterioration in the quality of service rendered. The result is inevitable.

"If any question exists as to the adequacy of the service of the Pacific Electric Railway company to and from Glendale, or as to the reasonableness and justness of the rates of fare now in effect, anyone having such doubts has a direct and speedy remedy before the California Railroad commission, the constitutional body organized by the people of this commonwealth for dealing with such matters.

Would Take Business

"The officials of the city of Glendale are not willing to abide by the decision of the tribunal duly organized by the Constitution of the State of California and apparently are willing, regardless of consequences, to embark upon a venture which from their own standpoint is predatory and will derive the major portion of its business from a field now adequately and reasonably served by the Pacific Electric Railway company.

"We admit, in fact, we know that, if the proposed bus line is operated, it will take from the Pacific Electric a considerable portion of the traffic with the inevitable result that the Glendale line of the Pacific Electric will be operated at a substantial loss.

"Such a situation will be sure to result in one of two things: Either the service on the Glendale line will deteriorate and finally disappear or the losses incurred on the Glendale line will have to be made up by the patrons of the other lines of the Pacific Electric Railway company.

"Wherever a prosperous city is located there must be a reason for the same. The reason for the city of Glendale is the Pacific Electric railway. The owners of the property years ago built the line when there was not sufficient traffic to justify the same, feeling that eventually there would be a sufficient population in the city of Glendale to justify the expenditure.

"It would not be fair at this time since the Pacific Electric system is not earning its operating expenses, interest and taxes, to permit the establishing of a service paralleling its present lines.

Construction of Tunnel

"The Railroad Commission's decision obligates the Pacific Electric to build a tunnel at a cost of $1,850,000 to take from Hill street the major portion of the cars operating over the Hollywood lines, the trains to the San Fernando valley and the trains between Los Angeles and Glendale.

"This will shorten the running time from Los Angeles to Glendale approximately ten minutes. The railway company is going ahead with the plans for the building the tunnel and much money has already been spent by the railway company in connection with the tunnel. It would be unreasonable to require the Pacific Electric to take its cars from the streets of Los Angeles and then authorize the operation of bus service.

"The proposed bus line is clearly unfair competition and does not propose to develop any new traffic, but deflect traffic from an established carrier. This is not a case of providing a service where none exists, but a case of 'skimming off the cream,' which has been tried and proven disastrous to all concerned in so many cities in the United States.

Fares Not Enough?

"If a franchise is authorized for the operation of a bus line between Glendale and Los Angeles, there is serious question as to whether the Pacific Electric would be justified in building the tunnel at all.

"The experience of the Pacific Electric in operating bus transportation and the knowledge gained by a thorough study of bus operating conditions convince the management that the proposed fares are not sufficient topay the operating expenses of the proposed bus line.

"We urge most earnestly that you refuse to grant the permit in question unless you are fully convinced that the service of the Pacific Electric company is now obsolete."

Happiness Rainbow Is Found at Home, This Woman Says

By WM. K. HUTCHISON
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON—The end of the rainbow trail to happiness is found in your own home town, according to Miss Alice M. Robertson, gray-haired congresswoman, from Oklahoma.

It is the simple philosophy of "Miss Alice," that "happiness is contentment," and "contentment can only be found by making the best of what you have."

These were her observations when her attention was called to the recent scandals in the movie world on the Pacific coast involving some young girls who sought happiness and fame on the silver screen, far from the protecting influences of home life. To these screen-dazzled girls, she says: "Stay home and be content."

The congresswoman is satisfied that the movie-producing world will be much cleaner after the present scandals have died away.

"Usually Clears Atmosphere"

"A thunderstorm usually clears the atmosphere and rid it of disease and germs," she said in her quaint, mild way. "This disruption in the movie world will only clean it of the worst characters. I think it will bring a higher standard of morality among the people who have become idols and teachers of practically the whole human race."

Miss Alice declared that girls who sought happiness in the movie world failed to find it.

"Newspapers say these stars are drug addicts," she observed. "You don't take drugs when you're happy. They are used only when the soul is depressed, and you seek some short road to happiness. It is pitiful, too, for the awakening only dissolves all the beautiful dreams that come from drugs and makes their surroundings more sordid and unhappy in contrast."

Miss Alice is admittedly old-fashioned. She said it was the duty of every father and mother to "want their children to live clean lives."

"Should Censor in Home"

"Mothers and fathers today seem to lose sight of this," she added. "I am old fashioned. I believe the movies should be censored in the home. You can't reform a nation by law. If mothers teach their children to desire clean things the movies will be compelled to abandon indecent things."

To girls who are dazzled by movie careers she gave this solemn warning.

"I know some sweet little girls who went to the coast to enter the movie colony," she said. "They came back unsuccessful, because they wouldn't pay the price. Some may succeed without paying, but these girls were asked to sell their souls for a chance to act.

"Girls ignore advice, but I'll tell them anyway, to stay home and be content. Happiness is contentment. Contentment can only be found by making the best of what you have. Girls, you'll find happiness chiefly in your own home town."

Horses, Sufferers in Famine, to Get Food

LONDON.—Horses are the latest class of Russian famine-sufferers to which the American Relief Administration has decided to extend aid. Three hundred and fifty-seven tons of oats, bought out of the $10,000,000 Soviet gold appropriation, have already left Reval for Moscow.

The maintenance of transportation in the outlying districts of the Volga valley depends almost entirely on the animals. There is no railway, and the roads, blocked with snow, are impassable for motors. Camels are sometimes used, but horses are the mainstay, and so short have they been of fodder that they have been dying off by thousands. In some districts the loss reported since last Spring is as high as 76 per cent.

Moreover, the peasants are becoming loath to let their horses do the heavy hauling of A. R. A. supplies without some assurance that the animals will be properly taken care of. Consequently an allocation was made from the $10,000,000 Soviet gold appropriation for Russian relief, and now an animal-feeding program is being initiated by the A. R. A.

Boy Scout Boxers to Settle Fight Dispute

DENVER.—Plans are under way for a return match between Ted Hannigan, of Denver, and Don Long, of Colorado Springs, to settle the Boy Scout featherweight boxing championship of the Rocky Mountain region.

Hannigan, who was "dethroned" as champion by Long, in a ten-round decision bout here February 11, still claims the title on a technicality.

Hannigan bases his contention on the grounds that Long refused to enter the ring the night of the championship battle until the promoter of the show agreed to cut the rounds from three to two-minute sessions. The Boy Scout rules, which governed the go, state that "the rounds shall be for three minutes each, with one minute intermission between rounds."

The match between Hannigan and Long was fast and hard fought.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands is a great lover of flowers, and in the park and conservatories at Het Loo the rarest flowers and plants are to be found, on the care of which neither labor nor expense is spared.

BOOK OF RULES TO GUIDE POLICE, IS PLAN OF CHIEF

Not Many Orders, Just Enough to Point Right Direction, Declares Executive

An official "book of etiquette" for Glendale "cops and dicks" is to be issued as soon as possible, according to Col. J. D. Fraser, new chief of police.

"The fewer rules, like laws, the better," stated Chief Fraser. "Give a man a general idea of his duties and then leave the rest to him. The fewer rules and regulations the better. Policemen have to draw their own conclusions. Every condition is different and he has to use his own head. However, the men have got to have some foundation to work on."

An investigation is being made by Chief Fraser to see if he can find in any other community an up-to-date rule book which can be adapted to the needs of the Glendale police department. So far, he has not met much success although he is well pleased with the code of San Diego.

L. A. To Give Aid

"A number of cities are working on the same problem," asserted Chief Fraser. "Los Angeles is working on a new rule book, and, when I was there the other day, they said they would send me a proof as soon as the type was set up without waiting to have it printed.

"A rule book is a thing which requires study and I presume it will be some time before I can get one in shape. However, we will get it in time—can't do everything in a day."

Chief Fraser is opposed to the system of flooding members of the police force with daily and hourly bulletins until their minds are dazed and their actions are paralyzed.

BAD CHECK IS MADE GOOD

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—The alleged worthless check which she had given in payment for an automobile having been made good by a relative, pretty Pearl Wolff, 22, member of a wealthy San Francisco family, was at liberty after having been held in the city jail on a grand larceny charge.

Cause and Effect

See the arrow in the above illustration? It points to the opening that exists between each adjacent segment of the spinal column.

Now it is upon such openings that your health depends, as it is through these that the nerves emit on their way to the organs or parts they supply.

When they are partially closed as illustrated, illness and suffering result, as you can readily judge.

I restore these vertebrae to their normal position and return the opening to its natural proportion.

HACKS SELF WITH KNIFE

SEATTLE, March 31.—In an insane frenzy caused by brooding over spiritualism, Mrs. Margaret Lindauer, 44, seized a butcher knife at her home at Richmond Beach, north of here, and with one blow completely severed her left hand.

As she was hacking at her elbow her young daughter interfered. Her screams brought neighbors to the house, who succeeded in overpowering the woman. She rushed to the hospital where she is reported dying from loss of blood.

The unvaccinated French army lost 20,090 men from smallpox in the Franco-Prussian war, while the vaccinated Germans lost only 297.

WILD ANIMAL SHOW APPEARS HERE ON FRIDAY, APRIL 1

Elephants Present Sight of Unusual Interest As They Work on Grounds

A real wild animal circus is coming to Glendale. Howe's Great London Circus with Van Amberg's trained wild animals, a big four-ring zoological paradise, will exhibit here on Friday, April 7, with afternoon and evening performances.

One of the most interesting sights at the circus grounds is to watch the elephants while at work pushing the heavy wagons and dons in position. They use their weight as cleverly as an athlete and squeal loudly with disgust when the weight calls for any great effort of strength, for he is of a naturally lazy disposition. Imagine, if you can, the capture of these animals, when sometimes herds of two or three hundred are driven from their jungle feeding places by natives mounted upon tamed elephants. Finally the surging, trumpeting herd is pressed forward until they reach a massive stockade, where ensues a scene that is utterly impossible to describe, as the herders enter and capture by long ropes those whom they wish to tame.

Show Great Strength

Crying pitifully and trumpeting vociferously they fall, while others, frightened and enraged, kill and trample to death their fellows. Huge creatures which at full stature stand twice or more the height of an average man, weighing from eight to ten thousand pounds, carrying tusks, a pair of which have been known to exceed 300 pounds, whose feet measure 180 inches in circumference; who can shuffle through forest jungles faster than an athlete can sprint on a cinder track; who has been known to swim for nine hours in one day; who can break down large trees by the mere impact of his charge; who can toss the huge tiger thirty feet in the air; whose ears detect the faintest sounds; whose eyes, though relatively small, never miss the most cautious movements; who never forgets a friend nor forgives an enemy; who could singly and alone rout hundreds of his captors, yet trembles and has been known to drop dead from fright at sight of a mere mouse!

Elephant hunting is the favorite sport of Siam, the novelty of which causes bull fighting, lion hunting or other pastimes of that nature to sink into secondary significance.

If you are weak and run down, drink goat's milk. Phone Glendale 1004-M. Delivered each morning.—Advertisement.

NEAR-EAST RELIEF, DUTIES TOLD BY REV. MOTTERN

Aid Is Given Regardless of Race or Creed, States District Director

The aim of the Near-East Relief is to provide 100 per cent relief to starving children, according to Rev. R. W. Mottern of 211 North Adams street, district director of this nation-wide Christian movement.

"The object is the kind of relief which puts those aided on a self-supporting basis and instills in them a confidence for the future, placing in their hands the means by which to begin life anew, in their hearts the courage to go on," he says.

"The Near East Relief is non-political and non-sectarian. Relief is administered on the basis of the greatest need to all suffering and helpless people regardless of race or creed. Funds are secured by direct appeals to the American public. It is purely a work of personal service for a humanitarian ideal and is largely dependent for its success here and in the field of operations upon the services of volunteers.

Books Are Audited

"Last year the entire operation here and on the field did not exceed five per cent of its entire income and even that was taken care of by personal large donations.

"The books both here in America and on the field are scrupulously audited by the navy department once each year. An annual report is then rendered to congress.

"The Near East Relief is the Red Cross at work in Turkey salvaging the remnant of Christian peoples and their children from distress and suffering. In the spirit of the Master, it refuses to turn a deaf ear to needy humanity."

LENINE'S NERVES SHAKEN

BERLIN, March 31.—"Nicolai Lenine has neither cancer nor kidney trouble, nor, in fact, any other serious ailment, but his nerves are badly shaken from years of overwork, terrific strain and responsibility."

This was the statement made here by 80-year-old Klara Zetin, radical member of the reichstag, in an exclusive statement to the International News Service.

WIN BATTLE WITH DEATH

CHICAGO, March 31.—Physicians have announced that Philip D. Armour's 3-year-old great-grandson of Philip D. Armour, founder of Armour & Co., packers, has been saved from the disease that caused the death of his 6-year-old sister, Gwendolyn, several days ago.

DID FIRST LOVE FOR TITLED SUITORS SPOIL MARRIED LIVES OF THESE AMERICAN GIRLS?

William E. R. Hitt. Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt. Mrs Frances Watts Stevens

By MARGARET REX
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK.—Is a woman unwise not to marry her first love at any cost?

Does remembrance of former love spoil the possibility of future married happiness?

Few recollections in life are as sweet to recall, or as difficult to forget, as those first whispered words of tenderness.

Can it be that such memories of love proffered, but lost in the end, overshadow's a woman's whole existence and make her later married life seem stale by comparison?

Did Katherine Elkins choose wisely in 1911 when she decided she could not marry the Duke of the Abruzzi?

All these questions are brought to mind by the news that Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt has obtained in Paris a divorce from William E. R. Hitt.

Hailed as Solution

In 1913 this marriage was hailed by Washington society, in fact by international social circles as a very sane solution of the problem that had so sorely tried the daughter of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins. Previously, since 1908, she had been courted ardently by the Duke of the Abruzzi, who is a cousin, of the King of Italy. Their mutual devotion attracted world-wide attention.

The question of her position at the Italian court is believed to have been the insurmountable obstacle that ended all thought of a wedding between the royal Italian and the independent American girl.

How absurd all this talk of royalty and question of who shall take precedence over whom seems today when the royal houses of Hohenzollern, Hapsburg and Romanoff have fallen!

The Duke during the years from 1908 to 1911 wooed Miss Elkins with true southern ardor and pleaded his cause with the King and Queen no less fervently.

Sincere though his love was, he was torn between that of sentimental attachment and love for his country, that patriotism which we may be sure the royal house of Italy frequently played upon in the desire to break off the match.

It was hinted that some dissatisfaction of the same sort was a cause of the unhappiness that seems to cling to the beautiful Frances Watts Stevens, who secured a divorce from Theodosius Stevens in 1920, after a short married life of less than three years.

Frances Watts, daughter of the late Ethelbert Watts, who was American consul-general in Brussels, spent her girlhood abroad. Between the ages of fifteen and eighteen she formed a taste for the social life of Europe. When she returned to Philadelphia she brought with her the memory of a young Belgian nobleman of wealth who was one of King Albert's staff. He had been very devoted to her.

War broke out in 1914 and, of course, it was impossible for her to return. The young officer died during the first dreadful year of Belgium's agony, and there are those who say the diplomat's lovely daughter could not forget.

She Sought Solace

Her melancholy is believed to have begun with the outbreak of war. Grief over her father's death prolonged her sorrow, and finally she sought solace in relief work.

This endeavor brought her in touch with Mrs. Richard Stevens, of Castle Point, Hoboken, N. J., and finally with Theodosius Stevens, brother of that charming society matron whose own maiden name had been Stevens. He is counsel to the Bronx Parkway Commission.

Frances Watts and Theodosius Stevens were married in 1917. Rumors of estrangement and of financial trouble were followed by separation, and in August, 1920, the former Frances Watts attempted suicide in a hotel at Easthampton, L. I., by slashing her wrists and taking a strong dose of some drug. In October of that year she got a divorce in Philadelphia.

Could it be possible that memories of their first loves precipitated marital disaster for both of these young American women? Could Katherine Elkins ever forget Abruzzi, and does the name, Belgium, bring heartache of a very personal sort to Frances Watts Stevens?

Allowed a Title

The status of a woman, a "commoner," entering such a marriage was discussed by Abruzzi with various highly-placed personages in his own home environment of Italy. He learned she could never be treated as one of his family, although Miss Elkins was to have been allowed the title of "Duchess."

In January, 1911, Senator Elkins died. In May Miss Katherine Elkins was "snapped" by a photographer whose picture showed the young lady, her mother, brother and "Billy" Hitt, all headed for a boat which was to take them to Europe.

Lucerne was chosen as the scene for a conference by the Duke and his intended bride from the United States. He came over from Venice. His presence in Switzerland perturbed Hitt, who had roamed over into Baden Baden.

That same year reports gained credence which proclaimed Katherine Elkins would marry "Billy" Hitt.

Finally the Duke's love for country seemed to win. Hitt was devoted to Miss Elkins, and in 1913 they were quietly married, this heroine of the Abruzzi affair and the young lawyer from Yale, who had great wealth of his own.

Just how ineradicable is the impression made by the first real love is hard to say. Perhaps only the people concerned could tell, and it is unlikely that they will bare their hearts to a curious world.

Dye Industry Favors Embargo Being Kept

WASHINGTON — Tariff rates could not take the place of the present embargo in protecting the American dye industry from German competition and consequent destruction, according to the testimony of witnesses before the sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee investigating the dye industry.

Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, told the sub-committee of correspondence between a senator, unnamed, and the tariff commission, relative to a tariff bill drawn by the senator, aimed to protect the dye industry. He said the commission denounced the bill and declared it would mean "complete domination and control" of the American dye market by foreign manufacturers.

JOHNSON FILM IS BARRED

COLUMBUS, March 31.—Declaring that it exploits "Jack Johnson, who has been prosecuted by the federal authorities for white slavery," officials of the state bureau of motion pictures censorship has announced that the moving picture entitled "For His Mother's Sake" featuring the colored former world's champion heavyweight prizefighter, had been barred from exhibition in Ohio.

Clock Is Wrong and Stranger Has to Walk

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. — Trains, like time, wait for no man. And that's why a local restaurateur is $5 richer today. It also is why the visitor who paid him "the jack" lumbered swiftly afoot over the railroad tracks out of this town.

The stranger entered the lunch room, glanced at a clock on the wall, compared the time with his railroad time table and sat down to eat. He had ten minutes to catch his train—by the clock on the wall. He paid his check and departed. But he came back, somewhat peeved.

"Friend," he said to the lunch room owner, "your clock is wrong. It caused me to miss a very important engagement. Take this $5 and buy a new one. I was on my way to get married—and now I'll have to walk."

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—Advertisement.

SHOT MAN JUMPS OUT OF PANTS AT BURBANK

Sans Clothing, Prisoner Finally Surrenders to Officers After Escape Attempt

Glen Sargent is recuperating from painful gunshot injuries suffered in Burbank last week as the result of his endeavor to escape from the city chain gang—one of the "thrillingist" foot races ever staged in that community.

As Sargent went he divested himself of clothing, much to the chagrin of Street Superintendent Scott and Earl Goodspeed, the officers who gave chase. First, the fleeing prisoner got rid of his shoes, then he dropped his coat. Then the officers shot and Sargent jumped out of his pants!

Another shot rang out as the "wild man" dived from under his shirt. Through the brush the race continued, the chapparal tearing to shreds what few undergarments Sargent possessed. But a shot had penetrated one foot and the pain was too much. He capitulated, sans clothes, and was rushed to the hospital, wrapped in a duster borrowed from a passing motorist.

San Fernando Politics

San Fernando has a "citizens' committee" which desires a change in the San Fernando administration. This committee has found three men in San Fernando whom they believe to be particularly well adapted as trustees. Their names are Dr. A. B. Brown, Hardiman Fowler and Clifton W. Judy. A petition signed by eighty-five San Fernando citizens urging their election is out.

Chance for Tooters

The I. O. O. F. lodge at Burbank is organizing a brass band. The organization is looking for those who would like to "blow their own horns" a bit. "Joiners" desiring such lung exercise are requested to report to C. H. Wilson of 519 Grismer avenue.

Banner Year for Nuts

The walnut groves in the Van Nuys district never looked better than they do this spring. There was practically no die back this year on account of frosts and with the soil well soaked by copious winter rains, the young trees should make a remarkable showing during the coming summer. The largest crop of walnuts in the history of the industry is predicted for California this year.

$30,000 Ranch Deal

The biggest deal of the year at Lankershim has just been completed amounting to around $30,000, it being the sale of the Valley Grove Farm, owned by E. F. Bogardus, on First street. The west ten acres, containing one of the largest and most modern poultry plants in this section of the valley, is the part that has been sold. The new purchaser who has already taken possession, is H. W. Lanphere of Arcadia.

$15,000 for Fire Protection

A complete modern sprinkling system is being installed in the Robert-Morton pipe organ factory at Van Nuys which will provide for this plant the highest degree of protection against fires. The system will cost more than $15,000 and will include a large tank in the rear of the building.

Seek 400 C. of C. Members

With a goal of 400 members and a total income of $1000 a month adopted, the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce begins in earnest this week its long heralded campaign of standardization and expansion under the direction of Stevenson C. Schouboe.

CHICKEN BONE IS FATAL

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—One of the best hotel men of southern California, Andrew S. Lee, manager of the Fremont hotel, and former manager of many of the foremost hotels in the country, died after a short illness caused by a peculiar accident. Infection caused when a chicken bone cut the lining of the hotel man's throat was said to have been responsible for his death. It was said that he was ill only three days.

NEW ARMY & NAVY STORE TO OPEN ON SATURDAY

Souvenirs to Be Given Away to Children; Bargains in the Various Departments

Glendale's new Army & Navy Goods store will throw open its doors tomorrow in the Slater block, corner Harvard street and Brand boulevard with a $15,000 stock of merchandise in one of the most prominent locations in the city. In the advertising columns will be found the complete announcement of the many bargains offered.

Souvenirs will be given the children and buyers will find the several different departments well stocked to meet their demands of new and renewed surplus army goods, shoes, medium priced clothing, wearing apparel and camping outfits. The latter line is artistically arranged with a mural background that is a work of art.

The owners of the Glendale Army & Navy Goods store want it distinctly understood that they are in no way connected with others of similar name in Los Angeles or elsewhere, but are all residents and property owners in Glendale. They hope to prosper with the town and will feature the sale of job lots of army and navy supplies, bankrupt stocks and sample lines.

Business Grows Fast

By doing a strictly cash business, they state they are satisfied with small profits based on a large volume, their sales having trebled in the four months the business has been established. "Money back" if customers are not satisfied is the watchword of this concern, which is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and claims the distinction of being "Glendale's Bargain and Booster Center."

A visit to their store will be a revelation in the way large stocks of goods can be neatly arranged in a minimum space. Untiring efforts will have made them ready tomorrow morning to open for business after a week spent in moving from a few doors south.

War Buddies Are On Big Hike to Win Big Prize

C. C. Franklin, a war veteran, and his pet, Champ, a Red Cross dog raised in the Scotland kennels of Sir Harry Lauder and decorated by Marshal Foch for bravery, have arrived in San Francisco on their hike around the country. They aim to win the cash prize of $10,000 offered by New York sporting clubs to the one who walks around "the rim" of the country in nine months' time.

FALSE ARREST, IS CHARGED

MARTINEZ, March 31. — Captain Waldo Evans, naval commandant of Samoa and Lieut. W. A. McDonald, a member of his staff, are defendants in a suit filed here by Samuel S. Ripley, in which damages amounting to $40,000 are sought for alleged false arrest in Samoa. Ripley espoused the cause of the natives in Samoa under the regime preceding that of Captain Evans. He alleges that he was twice falsely arrested, first on August 2, 1921, and later on September 6 of the same year.

HURLS COAL AT POLICE

BERKELEY, March 31. — A big crowd watched a sensational police battle in which Herman Martin, a negro, perched on a coal pile and using lumps of coal as his weapon battled the Berkeley police department. Chief of Police Vollmer finally subdued the prisoner, although badly battered in the fray. The prisoner, accused of passing a worthless check, was taken to the jail and the police chief to the hospital for treatment when the fray ended.

NEW CONFECTIONERY OPEN TO PUBLIC ON SATURDAY

John P. Matthews Is Getting Ready for Business at 127 West Broadway

The formal opening of the Matthews Confectionery, 127 West Broadway, will be held tomorrow, it is announced.

John P. Matthews is wearing "the smile that won't come off"—that is, he would be wearing it if he weren't so busy getting ready for the occasion. During the past few days a number of industrious and expert cabinet makers have been extremely busy and have promised to work far into the night in order that Glendale residents who have been anticipating the opening may not be disappointed.

Although Mr. Matthews is a newcomer to Glendale, he has great faith in the future of the community. This is evidenced by the fact that he is expending about $10,000 in the purchase of fixtures and the fitting up of the establishment. No expense has been spared to make it a model of attractiveness and neatness. Not a spot of any kind is to be detected anywhere and all eatables are enclosed in dust and germ-proof show cases.

Blue Gum Finish.

The interior finish is blue gum, which is known as one of the most beautiful of woods. It is also one of the most expensive, costing more than even mahogany. However, this lumber has been used throughout the entire interior. The eight booths and tables are built of it, and have specially made chairs of it to match. A large part of the iceless fountain is constructed of this wood and the wall panels are all made of blue gum.

Decorating is being done by E. A. Bode of 138 North Orange street. He has taken pains to make certain that floors, walls and ceiling all harmonize in color effect.

The kitchen of "Spotless Town" of Sapolio fame had nothing on the Matthews kitchen, which is equipped with many modern and efficient pieces of apparatus for the scientific making of confectionery.

Plenty of Experience.

Many years' experience in the confectionery business has been gained by Mr. Matthews in the northwest. In Seattle he operated a candy store in the Arcade Building, and at one time owned a first-class establishment at 824 Granville street, Vancouver.

The Matthews family now resides at 398 West Wilson avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews are accompanied by their two daughters, Miss Anna Matthews, and Miss Helen Matthews, and their son, Peter Matthews, all of whom have had experience in the confectionery business and will assist in the making and selling of the store's wares.

"Matthews stands for quality," according to the inscription upon the front plate glass window. This announcement is heartily endorsed by Mr. Matthews.

Learns Candy Secrets.

"Many years of experience have taught us the secrets of the finest candies," he asserted. "We will make our own candies and ice cream and have them fresh every day. They will be the very best made and absolutely pure. We will use only the best materials which can be purchased.

"Free ice cream will be given to all our patrons tomorrow. This will be made from pure cream, containing 35 to 40 per cent butterfat, Mexican vanilla beans and fresh fruit. Those, who do not like ice cream may have their choice of a soda.

"We will not only have first class goods, but our prices will be very low. I find that we will be able to sell about 50 per cent cheaper than Los Angeles."

Muscle Shoals Will Not Surpass Dam at Keokuk

WASHINGTON—Keokuk will not take off its hat to Henry Ford.

The huge waterpower dam on the Mississippi river at Keokuk, Iowa, long the largest dam of its kind in America, will not be surpassed by the proposed dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala., according to army engineers. The Alabama project sought by Ford, although it probably will develop more horsepower through auxiliary appliances, will not be larger in actual proportions.

The army also revealed that the Keokuk project is being operated under a 100-year lease. A similar lease, asked by Mr. Ford, has aroused a storm of objections from rival waterpower interests.

MUFFLER AIDS EFFICIENCY

WASHINGTON. — The Navy Department has developed a muffler for motor boat engines which it believes may be valuable for automobiles in increasing the mileage per gallon of gasoline.

The navy's bureau of engineering announces that experiments with the new device have resulted in perfect muffling, with unusually light backpressure to the engine.

The muffler is the product of research work done during the war in experimenting with various principles of sound to develop devices for detecting German submarines.

THREE MEN SUFFOCATED

TRENTON, Mo., March 31.—Rock Island railroad inspectors found the bodies of three men in a freight car bound for Canada. The men had apparently died of suffocation. Two of the bodies were identified as those of George Cooke, 25, thought to have been from Toronto, and George Rommuel, born in Cambridge, Mass. No identification papers were found on the third body.

The Sensible Thing to Do

There are in Glendale ever so many vacant lots—beautiful sites for homes. Owners of these, by building, may materially increase the value of the lots, and assist in relieving the housing situation in the city.

It is an easy matter to build now, when materials are back to pre-war prices, and labor on the job again in earnest. The investment will repay you many times, whether you build a home for your family or for someone else.

The practical thing, then, is to build now. Many far-sighted business people are realizing the wisdom of this suggestion, which accounts for the great number of new buildings now being erected all over Glendale.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

DALLAS, Texas—"A good old wagon, but it done broke down." Reference is made in these terms to the Cleveland Indians. In 1920 they won the championship of the world; in 1921 they were runners-up to the New York Yankees; in 1922—? Candidly no one knows at this stage of the proceedings, Tris Speaker not excepted.

"If you asked me at this moment I wouldn't be able to name the men I will keep," Speaker admitted this morning. "None of the players have been let out, therefore I have no definite idea of the relative value of the new men."

Of the veterans, Speaker appeared more concerned. Larry Gardner? Fine—Larry was in great shape. "Duster" Mails? "Duster" will have a big year. Bagby? Much the same, only more so. And so on down the line. No, Speaker, they are the same ball players that carried the club to a championship in 1920.

And yet the prevalent belief is that they are nothing of the kind. Gardner is slipping. He may last the full campaign at third base or he may not. Bagby had an indifferent year in 1921 and there is no guarantee that he will do better now.

Mails is a left-hander, both off and on the ball field. He had one streak in 1920 when he won seven straight games at the finish of the season and two more in the world's series. When he came to a full stop and has remained at ease since. Mails probably has spoken his little piece so far as consistent pitching is concerned.

The whole ball club has become aged and infirm on Speaker's hands—in fact, the regular lineup contains but two players who can lay claim to youth, namely, Joe Sewell at short stop and Jamieson in left field. The rest of them have been around a long, long time.

Speaker, himself, is not far from the vague border. According to present indications, the infield will start the season with McInnis on first, Bill Wambsganss on second, Sewell at short and Gardner on third. Riggs Stevenson, a fine hitter, but crude in the field, is being jockeyed along as a post third baseman in the event that Gardner does what is inelegantly known as a "flop."

Walter Hammond, who piloted Pittsfield to its eastern league pennant last year, and who hit .350 by way of encouraging himself, is another possibility.

Louis Guisto, up from the Coast league, may be carried as an extra first baseman and pinch hitter.

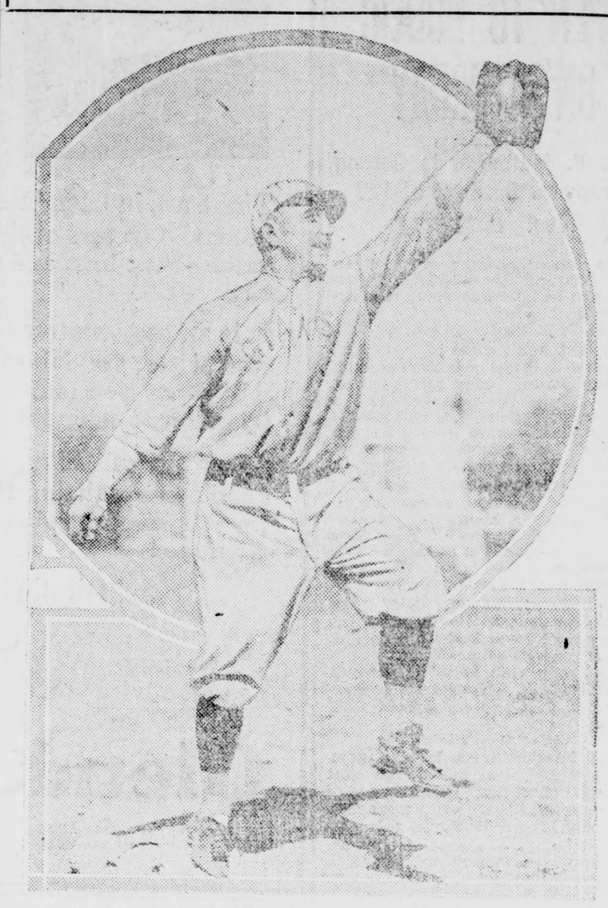
It will be the same outfield, minus Elmer Smith. Jamieson is to star in left, Tris Speaker in center, and Wood in right, with Evans and Graney to be used against right handers.

Pat McNulty, captain of Ohio state, has caught the popular fancy down here with his talent for ranging far and wide for fly balls, but thus far Pat has neglected to do much in the way of hitting. A youth named Jeannes has been knocking around without getting anywhere in particular.

Steve O'Neill and Les Nunamaker will do the bulk of the catching as of yore, with Shinault and possibly Luke Sewell, brother of Joe, in reserve.

The pitchers are many in number, parsimonious in quality. Coveleskie carried the staff last year and probably will be required to repeat the effort in 1922. Bagby may not come back. Mails, Sothoron, Uhle and Keefe are nothing to write home about. A few recruits who may or may not come along in time are Jim Lindsay, a right-hander from New Orleans, Barton, a semi-pro from Kentucky; Dell Bissonette, a left-hander, whom the Yankees failed to exercise their option upon, and one Potts, who held Kansas City to three hits in four innings recently. It will be noted that the provisional "may" is used to the exclusion of all others. The Indians are that kind of a ball club.

Yes, Fans Groh, Will Hold Down Sack No. 3



Heinie Groh, the Giants' third baseman, will be seen at the same old stand this year.

The WORLD OVER

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The fact that residents of the Hawaiian Islands are awakening to the possibilities of their section of the globe as a golfing country is indicated by news to the effect that a new golf club is being organized at Maui, and that a course is in process of construction there. Just how competent an architect is available to lay out the course deponent sayeth not, but it will be poor economy in the long run if an expert is not engaged.

This has been the experience in many of the Pacific coast sections which have been obliged to remodel their courses at a cost approximating what it would have cost in the first place. Golf requires a scientific arrangement of the playing terrain and unless this is not afforded, there can be no hope of attracting championship events of any note. The Hawaiians can profit by the experience gained on the mainland.

The three best polo players of the United States are members of the Meadow Brook club. These are Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Louis E. Stoddard and J. Watson Webb, all rated at ten goals, and all of them increased one point in their handicap in the recent revised list. The only Pacific coast player to have his handicap decreased was Hugh Drury of the Del Monte Polo club who was dropped from 7 to 6. It is proof of the increasing efficiency of the American polo players that only seven were given a lower rating while 38 were advanced one point. Rodman Wanamaker, of the Byrn Mawr polo club was the only one to be given an increased rating of two.

In a recent match between Ad Santel, the Pacific coast wrestler, and "Toots" Mondt of Greely, Col., when the latter had already secured a fall and it looked as though he would be declared the winner, Santel suddenly sprang a genuine bit of jiu-jitsu which he had picked up last year during his trip to the Orient. The fall was secured from a standing position through the application of leverage against the wrist and elbow joint, known as the front arm jiu-jitsu, something rarely, if ever, seen in the American ring. The pain floored Mondt as though he had been struck by a 14-inch shell.

The departure, a few days ago, of the University of Pennsylvania four-mile relay team to compete against Oxford and Cambridge on April 8, is merely another of those international visits which have become the vogue in the last few years. Within the last few years there has been more international competition of various sorts than was the case in two decades prior to that time. The crossing of the Atlantic was, at one time, considered a momentous event in these days. Today it carries a paragraph in the papers. The contests themselves, however, carry full details and there is widespread interest. When the national pride is at stake, persons who usually care little for athletics, turn first thing to the sports pages to see how their countrymen or countrywomen fared.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

While all college track teams in California have started their actual competitions with dual meets, the institutions of the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho have only started their preliminary training. Actual competition in the northwest will not start for another three or four weeks. In other words, when the college season is finished in California it will be only about half way through in the northwest. It is the same each year and is just a matter of climatic conditions that cause it.

The annual Pacific Coast Conference track and field championships are scheduled to be held at the University of Washington, Seattle, on May 20, just one week before the I. C. A. A. A. A. at Cambridge, Mass., May 26 and 27. Last year the late date of the Pacific Coast Conference worked against representation of both California and Stanford Universities owing to the entry of these two colleges in the eastern I four A championships which the California men eventually won by a fraction of a point from Harvard. The same clash of dates again prevents the entry of California and Stanford this year, as each college is again going to the eastern meet.

The Coast Conference therefore this year will again probably be a competition between the Pacific Northwest colleges only. The University of Southern California may send a team to the meet, but nothing final has been decided on in this matter. If no team from California is entered it looks as though the logical thing for the northern teams to do would be to combine their own Northwest Conference and the Pacific Coast Conference.

It is too early yet to know just how strong the northwest teams will be. Washington State college has a number of last year's veterans back, including Mirchel and Cole, half milers; Davis and Herman, sprinters; Maurer, quarter mile, and Roberts, high jump.

The University of Oregon will be weakened in the weight events by the loss of Arthur Tuck, present coast javelin record holder. Tuck was a good all-round weight man and capable of a number of points.

The University of Washington will be strong this year, judging by the veterans who are now signing up. Coach Hec Edmundson, however, has, like Oregon, lost a big point winner in the weight events in Gus Pope, one of the best shot put, discus and javelin men of the west. Charles Frankland is captain of the squad and is sure of points in the high jump. That brilliant sprinter, Hurley, who created a sensation, last season, is again eligible and will be the leading sprinter of the team. Anderson, Hathaway and Pratt are four good quarter milers and Coach Edmundson has several other good prospects in various events from last year's freshman squad.

Fashion Papers Win These 'Wild Women'

NEW YORK.—According to Walter Harvey, an explorer, of Westwood, N. J., who returned from the South American wilds on board the Booth liner Hubert, the women of the Brazilian mountain regions have been introduced to American fashions and are now no longer willing to go around in a state of natural simplicity.

It all happened, said Mr. Harvey, when the engineer of the big government dam which is being built near Cearea, Brazil, by an American company, arrived one day with a lot of magazines, including the latest fashion journals. Some of these fashion magazines with their attractive pictures, fell into the hands of the wives of some of the native laborers, and immediately they lost all interest in wearing just beads and smiles, and wanted New York and Parisian finery.

The women finally went on a hunger strike, which was followed by a cooking strike, and conditions became so bad that something desperate had to be done.

American engineers managed to get hold of some travel books showing some of the native women of Africa wearing nothing worth mentioning. The strikers were persuaded that these were the latest styles in new dress and became appeased.

Now a ban has been issued against all fashion magazines.

Cause and Effect

See the arrow in the above illustration? It points to the opening that exists between each adjacent segment of the spinal column.

Now it is upon such openings that your health depends, as it is through these that the nerves emit on their way to the organs or parts they supply.

When they are partially closed as illustrated, illness and suffering result, as you can readily judge.

Sufferings to Bring Good, Russians Think

WOOSTER, Ohio.—That the people of Russia stoically adhere to the belief that the world would be the better for their suffering after they find "what they are seeking," is the statement made by Don Lowrie, Seville, Ohio. Mr. Lowrie recently returned from Russia, where he spent three years in Y. M. C. A. work.

Many streets in the larger cities in Russia are fenced off because the buildings, uninhabited, are fast crumbling and falling to pieces, Mr. Lowrie told students at Wooster College, during an address. He is a graduate of the college.

The mother of a typical Russian family, that was in more than good circumstances before the days of Bolshevism, is giving piano lessons for such a fee as ten pounds of potatoes a month, said Mr. Lowrie. He declared that this woman's daughter, who performed Red Cross work during the war, sells cakes on the streets for a living.

One hospital in which Mr. Lowrie did some work obtained only sufficient ether to permit one operation a month. Other operations, he said, were performed regularly without any anaesthetic.

"THE JOKE IS ON US"--

—said a man who stopped at our store for a chat the other day. He said:

"Having a car at her disposal through the day, my wife got in the habit of doing her own marketing. Needing a few groceries she would go to the garage, start the car, drive down to one of the cash stores in the center of Glendale, which is over a mile from our place, then home again. Her expenditures ranged from 75c to $10—averaging $2. Figuring meats, vegetables and groceries, the saving over your prices on an average $2 order was 16c. Not counting my wife's time, the expense of oil, gas, wear on tires, etc., of the car we figured at about 30c for the cost of each trip. So you see, outside the trouble and time used, your delivery saves us money on the whole order."

As we route our patrons, making deliveries to many in each section we can naturally deliver your groceries cheaper than anyone can by making a special trip. If you are one of the many who have been shopping by auto, figure the cost.

May we have the opportunity of serving you?

PROVE PLAYGROUND OF GREAT VALUE TO YOUNG FOLK

Educational Benefits Seen in Organized Effort; Children Helped for Future

By CORINNE E. ORFF
Of The Evening News Staff.

Playgrounds and the value of same have always been the "bone of contention" and subject of much argument whenever the matter of school bond elections and money to be spent on playgrounds and equipment comes up for consideration. However, when one gives thought to the question and remembers that the purpose of education is to make socially efficient individuals, and if the playgrounds help to accomplish this purpose, they will then see that they have an educational value which cannot and should not be overlooked.

Philosophers have agreed that play is as much a part of life as work—that each day, if complete in itself, is made up of work, play and rest; that play is not a preparation for more work, but is itself life.

Play touches every phase of the development of youth. The effects are not only physical, but mental, moral and social as well. The social and moral influences of play produce indelible effects upon the child mind. All play is didactic and leaves its traces for good or bad, as the case may be.

Society has recognized that more outdoor life must ge given the children if they are to be physically strong adults. When and where playgrounds are established the child's energy is given an outlet in the right kind of play. It has been demonstrated that then there is a decrease in the amount of juvenile crime. This certainly tends toward social efficiency.

Clears Away Defects

Where there are no playgrounds the children usually know very few games, and these are not of the kind desired. Unorganized and spontaneous play often develops the bully and the coward. Systematic play does away with these defects to some extent and the ideals of organization and co-operation are taught.

While on the playground the children are adapting themselves to meet the conditions there. They appreciate the influences around them. One of the initial values of the playground is the recognition of mutual rights. Few children are spontaneously generous. On the supervised playground a new regime is established. The right to the use of anything on the playground cannot be monopolized by any ambitious player. The children become conscious of the fact that there are other players.

Along with the development of mutual rights is the growth of self-control, which is a result of the former. The social results expressed in ethical values are order, obedience, self-denial and discipline. The spirit of teamwork is developed. The growth of the instinct of co-operation is the most valuable result of play under supervision. Good government depends upon co-operation, so it is evident that playgrounds make for better citizenship.

Helps to Education

The fall of countries in the past has not been due to the lack of education of the people as it has been to their unsocial tendencies and immorality. The playgrounds have certainly as much to do with the elimination of these traits as the school.

Playgrounds furnish a fundamental form of education. While on the playground the child's capacity for mental growth is stimulated. Out of his play-life the child develops his health, muscles, emotions, will, quickness of judgment and executive tendency. The intellect is stimulated as in no other way. The backward child becomes capable of better work and the normal child becomes more alert.

On some playgrounds raffia, sewing and gymnastic lessons are given; this also links the playground and school to a certain extent. By carefully directed and organized play on the playgrounds, we can build character, develop individuality, and give a sound education in social ethics. These results have a great educational significance.

On the playground the highest interests of the child through play become the same as the highest interests of the group. It is claimed that the highest interests of the individual are the same as the highest interests of society. If this is so, then the playgrounds certainly lead toward social efficiency. The aim of education is to make socially efficient individuals, and since the playgrounds do help in this process they are educationally significant.

Camera 'Takes' Movies by Clockwork Motor

LONDON.—A new camera for taking cinematograph pictures has been produced which does away with the handle at present used for winding the film, a special type of clockwork motor being used instead.

A tripod stand need not be used, and the lightness and inconspicuousness of the camera will enable cinematograph operators to take pictures of a more intimate type than they can at present obtain.

The camera can be loaded in daylight, a sliding shutter allows of direct focusing, and the camera can in a moment be converted into a printing machine for making the positive films.

GREAT CARAVAN OF REAL ESTATE MEN TO VISIT NORTH

Eastern Dealers to Arrive in Los Angeles for Start on Morning of May 29

Eastern realtors and their families who join the caravan of 1,000 automobiles leaving Los Angeles for San Francisco May 29 will enjoy 500 wonderful miles of California hospitality and will see the state as few tourists have. The caravan has been arranged by Los Angeles realtors in co-operation with the state association and boards along the route to transport visiting realtors from Los Angeles to San Francisco to attend the fifteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, May 31 to June 3.

Communities along the route are vying with each other in preparing social entertainments. The Automobile Club of Southern California will provide special pilot and escort cars and real estate boards, and civic organiaztions of southern California are co-operating enthusiastically to insure the success of the tour and the comfort of the guests. William May Garland, of Los Angeles, former president of the national association, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Lunch at Bakersfield

Realtors will leave their Pullmans at Los Angeles and be transferred to automobiles early in the morning of May 29. By easy stages the caravan will arrive at Bakersfield by noon where the Kern county board will serve a barbecue lunch. Bakersfield is the heart of the oil region. Thence the caravan will proceed northward up the San Joaquin valley through the dairy ranches, vineyards and orange groves, passing through McFarland, Famosa, Delano, Porterville, Tulare, Exeter, Visalia, Lindsay, Selma, Kingsburg and other places, arriving at Fresno, the heart of the raisin district, for the night. Fresno realtors are planning an elaborate entertainment, one feature of which will be showing visitors the largest raisin packing plant in the world in operation.

The next morning the drive will be northward through Madera, Merced and Stanislaus counties and in the afternoon turning westward through Niles canyon to San Jose in the Santa Clara valley, where the caravan will be met by an escort of San Francisco realtors.

Promise Great View

Thence the trip will be by way of the peninsula, visiting, among other places, Palo Alto, where Leland Stanford, Jr., University will be seen; Burlingame and San Mateo. Towards evening the caravan will arrive at the summit of Twin Peaks at which point a never-to-be-forgotten view of San Francisco, the trail's end, and of the surrounding mountains and valleys will be obtained.

The Los Angeles board has invited realtors traveling to San Francisco by way of the southern route to be their guests on this trip. To easterners the schedule of 500 miles in two days, with numerous stops, may seem difficult to maintain but those familiar with the wonderful California roads know that it will be easy and delightful every mile of the way.

LOCAL CLUB WOMEN ATTEND MEETINGS OF CONVENTION

Delegates and Others at Big Gathering Just Concluded At Santa Monica

The interest of the club women of Glendale has been centered for the past several days around the activities at the Los Angeles District Convention of Women's Clubs, which has just concluded at Santa Monica. Glendale has had its part in this session, not only taking part in the programs, but also by the number of women from this city, as well as delegates of clubs, who have attended.

The delegates and alternates from the Tuesday Afternoon club for the convention were: Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Chas. L. Marlenee, Mrs. John Robert White, Alternates, Mrs. A. M. Williams, Mrs. J. E. Sargeant, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Mrs. E. D. Cleophas, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker and Mrs. Andrew Findlay.

On Wednesday afternoon the members of the Glendale Madrigal club, of which Mrs. Charles A. Parker is director and Mrs. J. A. Wright accompanist, presented several numbers on the program of the festival of song, which was given before the convention.

Last night a most delightful program of three one-act plays was given by members of the drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. R. E. Chase is curator, and who has also been district chairman of drama for the past year.

Discuss Big Subjects

Among the many big things discussed at the convention were "The Initiation and Ratification of the Four-Power Treaty by the President and Senate," on which Mrs. William Fitzgerald, state president of women's clubs, spoke, and who also included in her talk "World Peace," the latter subject receiving new impetus at Wednesday's session when Mrs. Frank J. Wagner, president of the Hostess Club of Santa Monica, read a charming personal letter from Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the president of the United States, in which she expressed appreciation and congratulation for the work of the women participating in public affairs, and especially in the movement toward world peace.

Contract Causes Mrs. Babe Ruth to Smile

With Babe Ruth's big five year contract just signed with the New York Yankees in hand, Mrs. Ruth found smiling easy. At $500 apiece for home runs, Mrs. Babe is rooting hard for a new record. And there's no telling but that she has assigned another contract with her husband whereby she gets a new hat or some such trifle with every circuit clout.

GLENDALE HEIGHTS DEVELOPMENT IS BEING PUSHED

Twenty-five More Homes Are Announced for Tract; View Is Declared 'Wonder'

More than 2500 feet of curbing was laid in Glendale Heights, "wonder tract" during the past week and grading is being pushed on Yale and Princeton Drives, the two lower roaddays that radiate from South Adams.

A force of men and teams is busily engaged in placing the improvements on Green and Scofield streets. The heavy rains of the past few weeks have seriously retarded the development of this wonderful property but with the advent of fair weather the Haddock-Nibley company is pushing things through with dispatch.

Adams street which bisects the tract is to be improved at once, according to Lon J. Haddock and when finally opened up to Verdugo Road is destined to be the popular thoroughfare to Los Angeles inasmuch as it shortens the distance between the two cities one and one-half miles.

Twenty-five additional homes are already announced to be built on the tract and these homes range from $6000 up to $25,000, a price which testifies to the high character of this particular homing place.

"Glendale Heights is in no sense an exclusive residential district," said Mr. Haddock, "but it is our intention to make of it a choice residential section for men and women of moderate means, covered only by such restrictions that insure adequate protection from undesirable elements. We want to make it the 'show place' of Glendale and the wonderful layout of the land lends itself so readily to this plan that we are eager to go ahead with its consummation. We are endeavoring however, to make the price of these wonderful view lots —each one of which commands a view of the entire valley—as reasonable as common ordinary flat lots located elsewhere and we anticipate that over 200 homes will be built on the tract within the next twelve months.

"Over 90 per cent of our sales thus far have been to Glendale people who know values, including a number of the most prominent building contractors who feel that in Glendale Heights they have an investment where their money can be turned over to a good advantage. Small payments down and small monthly installments make our proposition a most attractive one."

New Concrete Blocks Are Being Made Here

G. N. Fitch and C. W. McCart have established a new factory at Arden and Pacific avenues under the name of the G. N. Fitch and C. W. McCart Concrete Manufacturing company. They will manufacture concrete blocks for the purpose of making cesspools. Mr. Fitch holds a recent patent on these blocks. The idea is that cesspools can be erected with the cement blocks at a lesser cost than with brick, and that while the cement blocks have all the advantages of the brick, they also eliminate some of the disadvantages.

Mr. Fitch and Mr. McCart are recent newcomers to Glendale, having formerly resided in Long Beach. They state that they have already received orders which will keep them busy for some time.

AT GLENDALE HOSPITAL

Minor operations were performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital upon Robert Tiffany, son of Richard Tiffany of 129 West Los Feliz road, and Ralph Garner, son of Mrs. G. B. Garner of 2239 East Colorado street.

Following recent operations at the hospital Mrs. M. L. Carter has returned to her home at 163 North Bailey street, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Charnottee Stuckwish has returned to her residence at 204 West Seymour street, Eagle Rock.

S. W. Henkel of Hollywood had his appendix removed in an emergency operation last night at the hospital.

VISITING MODEL BUNGALOW

A large number of homeseekers from all parts of this region are coming to visit his new model bungalow at 471 West Windsor road, according to C. E. Williams, who recently established a shop on San Fernando road for the manufacture of bungalows in sections. Because of the excellent workmanship which is being put into these tailor-made houses, Mr. Williams reports that they are meeting almost general approval. He is convinced that this method of erecting a home is most economical.

TALES OF MYSTERY, LOVE, ADVENTURE AND INTRIGUE

Large Number of New Books Are Released This Week At Glendale Library

Among the many new books which have been offered for distribution at the public library on Harvard street are volumes of stories of love, adventure, intrigue, mystery and other subjects to please the public, and include the following books:

"Easy Lessons in Einstein," by Edwin E. Slosson. A discussion of the more intelligible features of the theory of relativity.

"Beyond the Horizon," by Eugene O'Neill.

"The Harp of Life," a play in three acts, by J. Hartley Manners. A study in the quality of the love of two women.

"Marching Men," by Sherwood Anderson.

"The Yellow Claw," by Sax Rohmer. The author, enthusiastic student of obscure Oriental cults and the history of sorcery, hides the adroit surprises and dramatic turns of his speeding story with master touches of uncanny atmosphere that fascinates and astounds the reader.

"The Vision Splendid," by William MacLeod Raine. A modern story of love and politics.

"The Tryst," by Grace Livingston Hill.

"Fifty Years of Make-Believe," by Frederick Ward.

Story of Western Life

"The Highgrader," by William MacLeod Raine. A breezy, pleasant and amusing story of western life.

"The Prairie Wife," by Arthur Stringer.

"The Eye of Dread," by Payne Erskine. Brilliant and versatile in character.

"The Diamond Pin," by Carolyn Wells. A detective story.

"Bawbee Jock," by Amy McLaren. A story of love laid among Highland scenes and charming Highland people.

"The Lamp in the Desert," by Ethel M. Dell. A thrilling story of India.

"The Southerner," a romance of the real Lincoln, by Thomas Dixon.

"The River's End," by James Oliver Curwood. A story of the Royal mounted police, of adventure and of love.

"Making Money Make Money," by H. L. Barber. The science of investment.

"Exit Betty," by Grace Livingston Hill (Mrs. Lutz).

Thrills In This Story

"The Man from the Wilds," by Harold Bindloss. A serious minded and determined young man from the wilds of Canada is appointed guardian to the estate of a beautiful and wilful English girl. How he tames himself and his ward also and saves her from a great danger by a heroic struggle against primitive man and nature in his native wilderness makes a tale of satisfying thrill.

"Pewee," by William MacHarg. A story of a lost identity.

"The Green Eyes of Bast," by Sax Rohmer. A story of ancient magic at work in modern times.

"God's Country," the trail to happiness, by James Oliver Curwood. A beautiful message of hope.

"Everyday Problems in Child Training," by O'Shea.

"The Play Way," by H. Caldwell Cook. The principles of this book are similar to the Montessori, but is with pupils between the ages of ten and sixteen.

Many Different Ways to Construct Highway

WASHINGTON—The state of Illinois, with the co-operation of the bureau of public roads of the federal government, has built a piece of road two miles long which includes sixty-three different sections representing as many different methods and kinds of construction having various thicknesses of concrete, cement grout and asphalt filled brick as well as asphaltic concretes and concrete with rolled stone bases.

The construction of this piece of road was completed in April, 1921, since which time a corps of engineers has been engaged in making observations for effect of temperature changes, static and repeated loads and subgrade conditions. And now a fleet of ten motor trucks received by the state from the surplus of the war department are to be operated over the road in testing it out.

At first they will be lightly loaded, but as the test progresses the load will be increased until a maximum is reached giving a 12,000-pound rear wheel load. The agricultural department at Washington in a statement covering the experiments says that the results will show which can be expected to support definitely the types of pavements which can be expected to support heavy traffic, as well as those which will not satisfy the requirements of such traffic conditions as might be expected during the next ten or twenty years.

An attempt to circle the earth in a sailboat, forty-six feet long and of twelve tons displacement, will be made by four Austrian sportsmen. The first leg of the journey will be by way of Gibraltar to New York.

Business-Getting Power of the Evening News

Exclusively a Glendale Paper

The Glendale Evening News is printed and circulated on its own merits. It has stood alone as a local daily newspaper for nine years and is showing a steady growth, both in circulation and advertising patronage. Advertisers value it because it is not a supplement or insert to any other paper and because it is exclusively a Glendale paper.

Best Publicity Medium In Glendale

The business organization of The Evening News is first, last and all the time a Glendale institution, and as such guarantees advertisers the best publicity medium available in the Glendale territory.

3,000 Paid-in-Advance Subscribers

Its circulation of 3,000 represents paid-in-advance subscribers who voluntarily order the paper because of its merits, and not on account of procuring an outside publication of which the local paper is merely a supplement to an organ, whose camouflaged purposes, when carried out, will be destructive to the best interests of Glendale merchants.

Our circulation books are open to your inspection. Our merchandising service is at your command.

MUSIC WEEK BRINGS MUCH PUBLICITY TO THIS CITY

Other Communities Hear About Excellent Programs Given By Glendale People

The celebration in Glendale during Music Week is receiving much attention throughout the county in the accounts which have been sent out by Francis Goldwater, chairman of publicity for Los Angeles County Federation Music Week, and which was under the direction of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music Club and vice president of the State Federation of Music Clubs.

Music weeks are being celebrated by various counties throughout the state and are responsible for many musical organizations joining the federation.

The County and State Federation of Music Clubs is a tributary to the National Federation of Music Clubs, which was organized by Mrs. Theodore Thomas, as an outcome of the various May festivals conducted by her distinguished husband. The Federation has spread to every state in the Union and is doing wonderful constructive work for the advancement of music all over the United States. One of the objects is to pass a bill in Congress for a national conservatory of music, and a bill for a secretary of education. Charles Wakefield Cadman, who was not able to be present as he is on tour in the South, sent some very constructive ideas for music programs.

Various Programs

Among the programs presented for music week were: In Los Angeles, the Los Angeles Music Teachers' Association, on March 20, at the McDowell club rooms, Eva Frances Pike, president; an organ recital by Albert Tufts, organist of the Second Church of Christ Scientist; a special "Club at Home" by the McDowell club on Sunday, March 19, when a musical program was given; Music Week programs at the Presbyterian church, Sunday, March 19, Mr. William Chick, musical director featuring the Golden West Quartette and soloists; West Adams Presbyterian church, in all American program, W. E. Sackett, director; and special musical programs at the Harmonic, Ebell, Matinee Musical and American Music Optimists' clubs.

In Glendale special programs by the Madrigal club, the Tuesday Afternoon club, the Glendale Music club and a notable program given at the High School auditorium. Awards on April 7

Glendale Music Week celebration closed with a final try-out in the Music Memory contest staged under the combined auspices of the Glendale Music clubs, the civic bodies and the schools of Glendale.

The awards for the Music Memory contest will be made at the meeting of the Glendale Music club at the high school on April 7.

Programs were also given by the music department of the Alhambra high school under the direction of Georgia Shropshire; San Fernando and Pacoima report special music week programs with community sings; Eagle Rock, besides the club program, gave a luncheon and a demonstration of the work of the juvenile clubs; while Santa Monica Bay district, under the direction of Mrs. Percy Browne, had special music services in all of the churches, many of the ministers taking Music as their subjects. A gala program was presented by the Santa Monica Bay Woman's club, and the week closed with a special all-American composer concert.

Tonight and tomorrow the regular week-end vaudeville road show of five selected acts and the special film production of Fannie Hurst, "Back Pay," a Cosmopolitan-Paramount picture will be the double attraction at the T. D. L. Theatre. Regarding "Back Pay," suffice it to say this feature film is a "big" production in all that the word implies. Is is by the author of "Humoresque" and "Just Around the Corner," and has the same wonderful cast that portrayed Cosmopolitan's well remembered photodrama, "The Woman God Changed," says Manager Allan.

For the five acts of vaudeville there is a nicely balanced program. LaRose's miniature musical comedy, "Little Miss Glendale" or "215," with seven people in the cast, is the featured attraction. Dupree and Dupree in "Bumps and Stunts" offer a novelty of unusual merit while Pep and Pepper in "You'll Be Surprised," add much in variety to an already good bill.

"The Bell Hop" and his powder puffs will tickle and cause much laughter. You can't really afford to miss it all.

The slogan adopted by Ralph Allan, "that you always see a good show at the T. D. & L." hits the mark and means much. This show, with the serial "With Stanley in Africa," will make up a big wonderful performance for the children on Saturday afternoon.

Great Fashion Showing
Big Conflict of Miners
People Out for Holiday
Realty Dealers Are Busy

By Gil A. Cowan

FASHIONS for spring and summer filled the columns of a twelve-page section of The Glendale Evening News yesterday to the satisfaction of the participating merchants.

It was a great showing and well represents this city as the trade center which it is. The confidence displayed in the advertising columns of this paper makes it possible to close the month of March, 1922, with a new record for one week's lineage in news, display and classified departments. Indeed, this response is inspiring to greater efforts in making Glendale greater.

The Kansas Industrial court has been called in to stop the miners' strike insofar as that state is concerned. The leaders, however point out that they are under orders of the international organization and are non-committal as to whether this action will prevent the threatened walkout tomorrow.

That is only one phase of the nation-wide conflict in the coal fields and already bloodshed is predicted. In other words, the United States will be the scene of industrial war that may equal a half-dozen Mexican revolutions.

While this is a democracy, there seems to be some parts missing in the government machine. If Governor Allen's industrial court succeeds in its purposes at this time, there is every indication it will gain favor in other states.

Sometimes others say things which exactly express the sentiment we would all like to write. Here is an editorial from the Burbank Pathfinder which is worthy of repetition:

"Of all losses suffered, that from idleness is greatest. Most people like to rest. They are looking for a holiday. And yet many who take a holiday endure more hardships and suffer more from discomforts than while employed at the average vocation. One leaves home, and all comforts of the home, to get relaxation—a change. How often it occurs that such persons return not in as good physical condition as when they departed. And yet one must have relaxation. But how to get real rest is the question. Probably of all attractive places in this entire country, none afford greater attractions than the valleys and canyons of the Verdugo mountains. There one may find real resting places the greater part of the year. It is real rest. And there can be no objection to the temperature—and the seclusion is ideal. What a place to read and write and think; and really some have their homes there the year round. To be honest, that's why so many people have come to Burbank in recent months and secured realty holdings on the very outskirts of the town, and under the somber walls of the eternal and everlasting hills. They appreciate the beauty of nature and the grandeur of the scenery, and they want to make it perpetual.

"As we stated in the beginning, we all like to rest. There is more loss from idleness than from anything else, but if one needs rest, and one feels that one must rest, the next time an itinerary is planned, instead of going to some far-away locality, or jumping off to one of the beaches, just slip up into one of the Verdugo hills' silent valleys, where the mocking bird makes his home, and the cottontail is monarch of pretty nearly all he surveys, put up your temporary home there beside him and live in quietness and seclusion for a month—then you can go home rested. One never has to apologize for going into the green Verdugo hills in quest of rest and recreation. There he finds both."

Once again, with the beautiful spring sunshine and verdant hills, the realtors are becoming active. Their announcements in the advertising columns are worthy of more than passing consideration.

You who have seen Glendale grow ought to know that "the buyer is the wise bird." Your opportunity for investment was never better for land is cheaper, in comparison with wages, cost of construction, etc., than ever before.

Yet close-in residential property is getting scarcer every day. Will you insure your future home, or take advantage of the increment on small down payments and long term installments on real property, the most stable of all investments?

WANTS HIS $2,450,000

LOS ANGELES, March 31—Claiming that Ola Humphrey Hassan, former wife of Prince Ibrahim Hassan of Egypt, is "somewhere in California" and that she owes him $2,450,000 for attorneys' fees, a suit for that amount was on file here today, having been filed for Herman L. Roth, New York theatrical attorney. Roth claims that his client, an actress, engaged him on a fifty-fifty proposition to recover her share of one-half from the $14,000,000 estate of the prince, whom the former Miss Humphrey married while touring Europe.

It is claimed by Roth that he made trips abroad in interest of the case and also was at great expense employing investigators and additional attorneys and that in January, 1920, his client was awarded $5,000,000.

FIRST NUMBER OF C. OF C. MONTHLY IS OUT TODAY

The Glendalian Is Creditable Publication and Contains Much of Interest

The Glendalian, the official Chamber of Commerce monthly publication, made its initial bow today, a very creditable eight-page edition announcing that Glendale is "the fastest growing city in the world."

Pictures of C. C. Cooper, first president of the organization, and V. M. Hollister, incumbent, adorn the front page with the announcement of the trade trip through the San Fernando valley on Wednesday, April 19.

"All of the events and activities of the chamber are chronicled, a list of new members given and the names of those who wish to locate here published for the information of realtors and business men.

Plants Are Pictured

Pictures of the American Agar company and Superior Washing Machine company plants also are reproduced and the several industries which the chamber has aided in establishing factories here are described. Secretary James M. Rhoades says:

"If the Glendalian can in ever so slight a measure awaken a greater knowledge of the beauties and advantages of Glendale, as a place in which to live and make a living, it will feel that it has more than justified its existence."

In an editorial discussing the spirit behind the Chamber of Commerce, the Glendalian says:

"We are at the present time in Glendale a vast body of strangers coming from every section of the United States. The Chamber of Commerce spirit welcomes these strangers into its midst and extends to them a welcoming hand and is at all times endeavoring to assimilate and cooperate with these many strangers for the uplifting and building of our wonderful city.

Spirit of C. of C.

"The one great thought back of the spirit of a Chamber of Commerce is unity. There is no organization in all the world to which the thought of 'united we stand, divided we fall' comes with such terrific force. The spirit of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce is to serve the people here on questions that affect all of the people; problems that arise from time to time that affect one portion of the people one way and another portion of the city another way will not find lodgment in the councils of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Questions that affect the political or religious belief or social standing of any member of the Chamber of Commerce will not be tolerated. We must all stand unitedly shoulder to shoulder with a solid front fighting and facing the enemy from without in order that we may preserve our rights and privileges from within.

"When Benjamin Franklin signed his name to the Declaration of Independence, he said, 'Gentlemen, we must all hang together or we will all hang separately.' This must be the true spirit of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Let's all get together, stick together, and work together, for Glendale, the fastest growing city in America."

Glendale People to Visit at Camp Potter

The job printing department of The Glendale Evening News has just executed a good-sized printing order for folders and stationery for Camp Potter at Big Bear lake in the San Bernardino mountains. The folder is an attractive six-page piece of literature telling all about Camp Potter.

Those who have been to Big Bear lake know what a wonderful land it is for vacationing. On account of its close proximity to Glendale and its many attractions for those who love to spend their vacations in the mountains, Big Bear lake draws a large number of people from Glendale each season, and the indications now are that increasing numbers of Glendale people will visit this region this summer, particularly on account of being able to stop at one of Bear lake's most comfortable camps which is owned and managed by Glendale people.

Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Potter of 463 Hawthorne street are the owners and managers of Camp Potter and are well-known in Glendale, having resided here for the past ten years. Mr. Potter states that he will soon begin extensive improvements at Camp Potter, including the installation of electric lights and the erection of a number of additional cabins in preparation for the coming season. Mr. Potter contemplates opening Camp Potter to guests this season as early as May 1, which is the opening of the trout fishing season. According to best authorities, trout fishing in Big Bear lake will be the best in years on account of the heavy rains and snow in the mountains this winter.

New Beverage Opens Popular Season Here

"Fru-Ber-ree," the new creation in beverages which was originated by the Henry-Brown Company, is opening a popular season at soda fountains in Southern California, according to F. J. W. Henry, who believes that the demand will increase as soon as the public learns of its fruity, winey tang—one of the most satisfying concoctions for quenching the thirst. It may be used in punches, ices and confections, as well, and "Fru-ber-ree" ice cream is made to order by the Glendale Ice Cream Company.

After all, life and living do not consist only of food and raiment.
